There are many reasons a farmer's animals could escape from confinement including the farmer's negligence, an act of God or the independent actions of a third party. Regardless of the underlying reason for the escape, Missouri's fencing law properly assigns liability to the owner of the animals that caused the damage. However, under Senate Bill No. 844, the victim of the animal rampage would be left without recourse, despite playing no role in causing the damage, unless negligence on the part of either the owner of the animals or a third party can be proven. The responsibility for making the injured party whole for the action of these animals is and must continue to be placed with the owner of the trespassing animals. Further, nothing precludes the owner of those animals from subsequently pursuing a responsible third party, if one exists, and seeking damages and indemnification for any payments made to compensate the neighbor for damages. Existing law is fair, equitable and places the financial exposure with the proper party.

Lastly, it was just three sessions ago, the General Assembly, over my objection, enacted Senate Bill No. 9 (2013) to create the crime of animal trespass. So, while in 2013 the General Assembly was willing to hold the owner of trespasing animals criminally responsible, in 2016, it now attempts to make it more difficult to hold that same owner civilly liable. This is wholly inconsistent, unfair and will not receive my approval.

In accordance with the above stated reasons for disapproval, I am returning Senate Bill No. 844 without my approval.

Herewith I return to you Senate Substitute No. 2 for Senate Bill No. 847 entitled:

AN ACT

To repeal section 490.715, RSMo, and to enact in lieu thereof one new section relating to evidence for the cost of medical care and treatment.

I disapprove of Senate Substitute No. 2 for Senate Bill No. 847. My reasons for disapproval are as follows:

In order for a person to be compensated for the harm they suffered as a result of the carelessness of another, the injured person is entitled to show a jury the total value of their losses - from past and future medical expenses to physical pain and suffering. Today, one way in which an injured person may help a jury to understand the extent and seriousness of their injuries is to show the jury the value of the medical care required for their treatment. This is a well-grounded, common-sense approach that has been used for many years.

Senate Substitute No. 2 for Senate Bill No. 847 (Senate Bill No. 847) abandons these principles, and instead substitutes an arbitrary rule that seeks to lessen the seriousness of person's injury, not based on an physical evidence, but instead based primarily on deals made between insurance companies and healthcare providers that have nothing to do with the individual's injuries. This legislation would limit recoveries by injured people, and unfairly favor those who cause the injuries. It is fundamentally unjust, unmerited, and unnecessary and will not receive my support.

The value of medical treatment is an important piece of an injured person's total losses and a very critical piece of the information a jury considers when evaluating those injuries. Senate Bill No. 847 would completely undermine an injured individual's ability to fully and fairly establish their damages by illogically reducing the "actual cost of the medical care or treatment" through "adjustment for any contractual discounts, price reduction, or write-off by any person or entity." Application of these reductions would significantly understate the true impact of the defendant's actions and would preclude the fact-finder from fully considering the harm suffered by the individual.

While Senate Bill No. 847 would be unfair to all injured individuals, it would be particularly unjust to those injured people who had the foresight and means to acquire insurance. It is those individuals with insurance who would have the value of their medical care or treatment most significantly reduced by contract or otherwise. These reductions afforded insurance companies by healthcare providers are often substantial and the admissibility of only the diminished or remaining cost, as would be required under Senate Bill No. 847, would wrongly limit an individual's recovery. As a result, this legislation would irrationally punish individuals with insurance and would do so to the benefit of the wrongdoer. This incongruous result illustrates the absurdity underlying this wrongheaded legislation.

Senate Substitute No. 2 for Senate Bill No. 847 is misguided policy purposely designed to benefit a wrongdoer at the expense of their victim and will not receive my approval.

In accordance with the above stated reasons for disapproval, I am returning Senate Substitute No. 2 for Senate Bill No. 847 without my approval.

Herewith I return to you Conference Committee Substitute for House Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 867 entitled:

AN ACT

To repeal sections 66.620, 67.402, 99.845, 136.055, 137.016, 137.100, 137.115, 137.565, 182.802, 184.815, 190.335, 221.407, 233.180, 233.295, 304.190, 311.179, and 347.048, RSMo, and to enact in lieu thereof twenty new sections relating to political subdivisions.

I disapprove of Conference Committee Substitute for House Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 867. My reasons for disapproval are as follows:

Conference Committee Substitute for House Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 867 began its legislative existence as a simple, four-page bill containing a single, worthwhile measure providing a process for consolidating special road districts. Unfortunately, gathering legislative detritus on its voyage through the General Assembly, it transformed into an omnibus monstrosity running afoul of the Missouri Constitution and failing to gain my approval.

Since 1875, the Missouri Constitution has required legislation to be limited to its original purpose. This basic requirement promotes an open process to alert legislators and the general public to the substance of pending legislation and further prevents "logrolling," in which several matters that would not individually command a majority vote are bundled into a single bill to ensure passage. Despite repeated admonitions from the courts, omnibus bills violating this Constitutional requirement continue to be passed.

The Missouri Constitution provides that "no bill shall be so amended in its passage through either house as to change its original purpose." Mo. Const. Art. III, Sec. 21. This prohibition on adding "subject matter that is not germane to the object of the legislation or that is unrelated to its original subject" is meant to fairly apprise citizens of the subject of the legislation being considered. C.C. Dillon Co. v. City of Eureka, 12 S.W.3d 322, 326-27 (Mo. Banc 2000). Here, Conference Committee Substitute for House Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 867, began as an act "relating to county road district consolidation" but ballooned to 20 subjects ranging from tax deductions, to sheltered workshops, to property managers, to alcohol sales at an airport, to assessments of mining property, to state highway designations. Indeed, many of the provisions weighing down this legislation were inserted as amendments during the waning hours of session, without the benefit of a public hearing and with limited or no public debate.

The most egregious of these surreptitious additions would seek to impose new fees upon Missourians at license offices. If Conference Committee Substitute for House Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 867 were to become law, Missourians would be faced with a $2.00 "notary fee" at their local license office, despite a separate subsection of law unchanged by the amendment expressly prohibiting the charging of a notary fee. The second new fee sought to be imposed would allow license offices to charge $2.00 for each "electronic transmission" and each "electronic look-up." Neither "transmission" nor "look-up" is defined in the legislation, instead leaving the scope of this new fee to the fee office agent's imagination.

At the very least under this legislation, Missourians could be charged a new fee each and every time the license office sends an email ($2.00), receives a fax ($2.00), or electronically verifies information such as personal property tax ($2.00), insurance ($2.00), and a motor vehicle inspection ($2.00). Add in a notarized document ($2.00), and in a single transaction to register a motor vehicle, a Missourian could be facing an additional $12.00 in fees, on top of the $3.50 fee the license office can currently charge—more than quadruple the fees they could currently be charged.

As I stated in vetoing similar legislation in 2013, Missourians should not be asked to pay yet another new government fee to receive the same service they receive today, and certainly not by way of an eleventh hour amendment to an already swollen omnibus bill stretched far beyond the bill's original purpose. While my action today will prevent a number of worthwhile provisions from becoming law, including the measure that gave birth to the underlying bill, it will also prevent Missourians being charged new fees at license offices through a constitutionally suspect vessel.

In accordance with the above stated reasons for disapproval, I am returning Conference Committee Substitute for House Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 867 without my approval.

AN ACT

To repeal sections 262.823, 311.060, 311.091, and 311.205, RSMo, and to enact in lieu thereof five new sections relating to alcohol.

I disapprove of Conference Committee Substitute for House Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 994 (Senate Bill No. 994). My reasons for disapproval are as follows:

Senate Bill No. 994 would provide authority for the Missouri Wine and Grape Board to hire attorneys to oversee legal services that promote the board's marketing goals, and is specifically intended to authorize the board to hire legal counsel to defend the interests of Missouri wine manufacturers in lawsuits that are brought against those companies in another state. Authorizing legal services that are intended to ensure that lawsuits against Missouri businesses are unsuccessful is ultimately an expenditure of public funds for a private purpose, which would violate the Missouri Constitution regardless of the substance or merit of the lawsuit. Mo. Const. Art. III, Section 38(a). While promoting the Missouri wine industry is a worthy and legal endeavor, using state tax dollars to pay attorneys to defend the interests of private litigants is not.

The Missouri Wine and Grape Board is a public entity with the primary goal to promote the Missouri grape and wine industry through technical and marketing support. Funding for the board is derived from an excise tax on wine, and revenues are deposited in the state treasury to be used for the functions specifically authorized by law. Section 311.554, RSMo. However, the Missouri Constitution is the ultimate authority on how public funds may be spent and specifically forbids the grant of public money to any private person, association or corporation. Mo. Const. Art. III, Section 38(a). And, the grant need not be given directly to a private person or corporation to violate the constitution. If the primary object of a public expenditure is to serve a public purpose, the expenditure is legal, even though it would also incidentally involve an expense, which, standing alone, would not be lawful. However, if the primary object is not to serve a public purpose, but to promote some private end, the expense is illegal, even though it may incidentally serve some public purpose. State ex rel. City of Jefferson v. Smith, 348 Mo. 554, 154 S.W.2d 101, 102 (Mo. banc 1941).

There is little doubt that House Bill No. 994's intended goal would result in the use of public funds for a private purpose. Indeed, an attorney would be hired and the intended expenditure would be triggered only when a Missouri company is subjected to litigation in another state. And, the outcome of that litigation will directly impact only the private company named as a defendant. Though the Missouri wine industry may ultimately benefit from a successful campaign to dismiss out-of-state claims against individual wine companies, that does not save an otherwise ill-conceived measure to allow state funds for an unconstitutional purpose. Whether it involves a promotion-worthy Missouri industry or not, I cannot support a bill that is intended to authorize a public entity to expend state revenue to support private litigants.

In accordance with the above stated reasons for disapproval, I am returning Conference Committee Substitute for House Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 994 without my approval.

AN ACT

To repeal section144.010, 144.018, and 144.020, RSMo, and to enact in lieu thereof three new sections relating to the taxation of instructional classes.

I disapprove of Senate Bill No. 1025. My reasons for disapproval are as follows:

Senate Bill No. 1025 would exclude any amount paid for instructional classes from the definition of sale at retail for purposes of the Missouri sales tax law. Its intent is to exempt "instructional classes" offered at businesses like dance studios, martial art studios and gymnastic centers from sales tax, thereby overruling long-standing Missouri Supreme Court precedent. Because Senate Bill No. 1025 seeks to create an exemption from established law and its unaccounted-for budgetary impact is unsound fiscal policy, it fails to receive my support.

Senate Bill No. 1025 is another attempt to subvert the law that applies state and local sales tax to places of recreation and amusement like dance studios and gyms. It does so by creating a loophole for instructional classes that are conducted at these entities. Proponents disingenuously claim this provision is necessary to clarify a confusing area of the law. What they are really seeking is to chip away at an area of law that has consistently been applied by the Missouri Supreme Court and diligently followed by the department of revenue over the course of previous and current administrations. Places of amusement and recreation have always been subject to this particular tax. Earlier this year, the Missouri Supreme Court reiterated this point and made it clear that activities that constitute amusement or recreation are subject to the tax under existing law even if there is an instructional component. Moreover, because Senate Bill No. 1025's definition of "instructional class" is vague, it has the potential to generate even more litigation designed to further test and expand the exemption.

Enacting this new exemption would further erode the tax base without requiring the creation of even a single job, in addition to reducing state revenue for education, public safety and other vital services by $8 million in Fiscal Year 2017 alone. When coupled with an additional estimated $8 million reduction in local sales tax revenues, the overall cost of this provision to state and local revenues grows to $16 million. The Fiscal Year 2017 budget passed by the General Assembly fails to account for the cost of this new carve-out, and would necessitate executive action to offset its fiscal impact if this legislation were to become law. This is fiscally irresponsible and cannot receive my support.

Herewith I return to you Senate Bill No. 844 entitled:

AN ACT

To repeal section 272.030 and 272.230, RSMo, and to enact in lieu thereof one new section relating to livestock trespass.

I disapprove of Senate Bill No. 844. My reasons for disapproval are as follows:

Under current law, if any horses, cattle or other stock break over or through a fence and trespass on the property of another, the owner of the animals is liable for the damage caused to the other landowner. Under Senate Bill No. 844, the owner of the animals would not be responsible to his neighbor for the damage caused by his animals, unless the injured party can establish "the owner of the trespassing horses, cattle, or other stock was negligent." Current law properly assigns liability upon the owner of the animals that have caused the damage, and I will not approve legislation that shifts that risk to an innocent neighbor.

There are many reasons a farmer's animals could escape from confinement including the farmer's negligence, an act of God or the independent actions of a third party. Regardless of the underlying reason for the escape, Missouri's fencing law properly assigns liability to the owner of the animals that caused the damage. However, under Senate Bill No. 844, the victim of the animal rampage would be left without recourse, despite playing no role in causing the damage, unless negligence on the part of either the owner of the animals or a third party can be proven. The responsibility for making the injured party whole for the action of these animals is and must continue to be placed with the owner of the trespassing animals. Further, nothing precludes the owner of those animals from subsequently pursuing a responsible third party, if one exists, and seeking damages and indemnification for any payments made to compensate the neighbor for damages. Existing law is fair, equitable and places the financial exposure with the proper party.

Lastly, it was just three sessions ago, the General Assembly, over my objection, enacted Senate Bill No. 9 (2013) to create the crime of animal trespass. So, while in 2013 the General Assembly was willing to hold the owner of trespassing animals criminally responsible, in 2016, it now attempts to make it more difficult to hold that same owner civilly liable. This is wholly inconsistent, unfair and will not receive my approval.

In accordance with the above stated reasons for disapproval, I am returning Senate Bill No. 844 without my approval.

Herewith I return to you Conference Committee Substitute No. 2 for House Committee Substitute for Senate Substitute for Senate Bill No. 608 entitled:

AN ACT

To repeal sections 167.638, 174.335, 197.315, 208.152, 208.952, 208.985, 335.300, 335.305, 335.310, 335.315, 335.320, 335.325, 335.330, 335.335, 335.340, 335.345, 335.350, 335.355, 338.200, 376.1235, 376.1237, and 536.031, RSMo, and to enact in lieu thereof forty-five new sections relating to health care, with a contingent effective date for certain sections.

I disapprove of Conference Committee Substitute No. 2 for House Committee Substitute for Senate Substitute for Senate Bill No. 608. My reasons for disapproval are as follows:

Conference Committee Substitute No. 2 for House Committee Substitute for Senate Substitute for Senate Bill No. 608 (Senate Bill No. 608) would needlessly punish our state's most vulnerable citizens without improving access to care or bringing Missourians' tax dollars back to Missouri. While these kinds of market-based reforms and incentives may be acceptable in the context of an expanded Medicaid population that includes more working Missourians, they are cruel and punitive when imposed solely on some of our very poorest and most vulnerable citizens.

Senate Bill No. 608 would impose a host of new penalties and fees on those who are least able to afford them, namely: low-income families, the aged, blind, and disabled. Fees for missed appointments and increased fees for emergency room visits later deemed non-emergency may seem very reasonable to those of us who have access to reliable transportation, who are able to take time off work for appointments and who have ready-access to telephone or e-mail services. Missourians who are disabled or who live in extreme poverty often cannot take advantage of these blessings that others may take for granted.

Over the past four years, the legislature has refused to expand Medicaid eligibility to cover working adults making up to 138 percent of the poverty level, or about $15,000 a year for an individual, and Missouri has turned down billions of dollars in federal funding as a result. Currently, in order to qualify for Medicaid in Missouri, a single parent with two children can make no more than $3,600 a year.

Strengthening Medicaid would provide health coverage to an additional 300,000 working Missourians, create thousands jobs in high-paying health care fields and generate millions of dollars in revenues for other priorities. Due to the legislature's inaction, Missourians continue to pay taxes to the federal government only to see those dollars go to the other 32 states that have moved forward with Medicaid expansion.

Gouging the poor while continuing to send our tax dollars to other states is not reforming our Medicaid system.

In accordance with the above stated reasons for disapproval, I am returning Senate Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 608 without my approval.

TO THE SECRETARY OF STATE OF THE STATE OF MISSOURI

Herewith I return to you Conference Committee Substitute for House Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 656 (Senate Bill No. 656) entitled:

AN ACT

To repeal sections 50.535, 563.031, 571.030, 571.101, 571.104, 571.111, and 571.126, RSMo, and to enact in lieu thereof fourteen new sections relating to weapons, with penalty provisions, an emergency clause for a certain section, and an effective date for a certain section.

I disapprove of Senate Bill No. 656. My reasons for disapproval are as follows:

Senate Bill No. 656 would eliminate the current requirements that individuals obtain training, education, a background check and a permit in order to carry a concealed firearm in Missouri. Under Senate Bill No. 656, the safeguards in Missouri's concealed carry system would be thrown out and any individual who is allowed to possess a firearm would be automatically allowed to carry it concealed. In doing so, the bill would render meaningless the existing authority of sheriffs to deny concealed carry permits, allowing individuals to legally carry a concealed firearm even though they have been or would be denied a permit because their background check revealed criminal offenses or caused the sheriff to believe they posed a danger.

Since 2003, Missouri law has set forth a process for obtaining concealed carry permits.[1] Such permits are issued by Missouri sheriffs, who are charged with ensuring the safety of the communities they serve. As recently as 2013, the General Assembly passed and I signed a bill that reiterated the important role of Missouri sheriffs in issuing – and for proper public safety reasons denying where appropriate – concealed carry permits (Senate Bill No. 75 (2013)). Missouri law requires classroom and range training, as well as a background check and review by the sheriff, before an applicant can obtain a concealed carry permit.

I support this system, and have signed bipartisan legislation that proposed sensible expansions to our concealed carry laws. Such changes include:

- Modifying training requirements (House Bill No. 294 (2011), House Bill No. 1647 (2012), Senate Bills No. 489 & 637 (2012));
- Expanding the list of places into which those with permits may carry concealed firearms (House Bill No. 294 (2011));
- Lowering the minimum age for obtaining a permit (House Bill No. 294 (2011));
- Lengthening the duration a concealed carry permit is valid from three years to five years (Senate Bill No. 75 (2013));
- Expanding the list of who is exempt from having to obtain permits (House Bill No. 294 (2011), House Bill No. 533 (2013), Senate Bill No. 745 (2014));

[1] Prior to August 28, 2013, Missouri's concealed carry permit was reflected as an endorsement on the successful applicant's driver or non-driver license, and was therefore referred to in law and otherwise as a "concealed carry endorsement." Use of the term "permit" herein includes endorsements issued prior to August 28, 2013.

- Allowing those below the minimum age who serve our country in the armed forces to be able to obtain a permit (House Bill No. 1647 (2012));

- Vesting sole responsibility for maintaining concealed carry data in Missouri sheriffs (Senate Bill No. 75 (2013)).

While the above improvements received my support, Senate Bill No. 656, which would throw out the permit process and allow individuals to carry concealed firearms without any of the public safety protections that exist in current law, does not.

Under current law, to obtain a concealed carry permit, an individual must pass a course of at least eight hours in length that contains training on: handgun safety in the classroom, on the range, at home, and while carrying; basic principles of marksmanship; care and cleaning of concealable firearms; safe storage of firearms at home; the requirements for obtaining a concealed carry permit; Missouri laws relating to firearms. Section 571.111.2 RSMo. This training must also include instruction on Missouri laws relating to justifiable use of force. Id. Instructors spend a significant period of the classroom time educating students not only on how to use firearms, but, more importantly, when they are justified in using firearms to protect themselves or others. This classroom instruction is obviously important for public safety, and for the student as well, who needs to know when he may justifiably draw and fire his weapon at another human being. There are life-and-death scenarios reviewed in the classroom, as well as scenarios in which an individual is not justified in using lethal force.

In addition to this education, the individual must demonstrate that he or she can safely load and unload a handgun, and must successfully complete a live firing exercise that requires the applicant to fire twenty rounds at a target. Section 571.111.2 RSMo. Then, with the instructor present, the applicant must fire another twenty rounds at the target, hitting the target with at least fifteen of those twenty rounds. Id.

After successfully completing the day-long classroom and range instruction, the applicant must go to the sheriff's office and pass a background check before being authorized to carry concealed. Approved trainers throughout our state have taught many thousands of Missourians how to properly and safely handle a concealed firearm. And sheriffs in Missouri have processed applications, conducted background checks and issued concealed carry permits on the same scale. In doing so, sheriffs have also appropriately rejected many individuals' applications under the provisions of section 571.101 RSMo., and those decisions have been upheld by courts on appeal. But Senate Bill No. 656 would remove sheriffs' ability to appropriately exercise that authority to protect their communities from individuals who they determine are a danger to themselves or others.

Under Senate Bill No. 656, the following individuals could automatically, without any scrutiny, training or notification, carry a concealed weapon:

- A person who has pled guilty to a felony and received a suspended imposition of sentence (currently prohibited by section 571.101.2(3) RSMo.);[2]

- An 18-year old high school student (an individual who is not in the military must be at least 19 years old to apply for a concealed carry permit under section 571.101.2(1) RSMo.);

- A person who has been charged with (but not yet convicted of) a felony (currently prohibited by section 571.101.2(5) RSMo.);

- A person who has been convicted of misdemeanor assault (currently prohibited by section 571.101.2(4) RSMo.);

- A person who has two or more misdemeanor DUIs within the last five years (currently prohibited by section 571.101.2(4) RSMo.);

- A person with two or more misdemeanor drug possession convictions within the last five years (currently prohibited by section 571.101.2(4) RSMo.).

Under current law in Missouri, none of these individuals may carry a concealed firearm. Under Senate Bill No. 656, all of them may do so. And they may do so with no training, no background check or screening, and no permit required.

Members of Missouri's law enforcement community, many of whom supported the enactment of the concealed carry law in 2003 and still today support the permit system, have also raised these concerns. I have heard them, and I share their concerns. Sheriffs and their deputies are charged with keeping their communities safe. Through their work, they come to know very well the residents of their jurisdictions. The drafters of Missouri's concealed carry permitting law recognized this and included in the 2003 law section 571.101.2(7) RSMo., which authorizes a sheriff to deny the application of a person who has engaged in a documented pattern of behavior that causes the sheriff to reasonably believe that the applicant is a danger to himself or others. And sheriffs in Missouri can readily identify individuals in their jurisdictions who, although not prohibited by federal or state law from possessing a firearm, would be ineligible for a permit to carry one concealed.

[2] A suspended imposition of sentence reflects a finding of guilt but does not reflect a conviction. Therefore, an individual receiving a suspended imposition of sentence is not prohibited from possessing a firearm under state and federal law, both of which only prohibit possession by those convicted of a felony. See section 571.070.1(1) RSMo. and 18 U.S.C. 922(g)(1). But Missouri's concealed carry law requires the sheriff to deny the application of one who has pled guilty to or been convicted of a felony. Section 571.101.1(3) RSMo.

While a permit to carry a concealed weapon in Missouri would be wholly unnecessary under Senate Bill No. 656, our existing permitting process would still be available for individuals who wish to carry concealed weapons in other states through reciprocity and will lead to absurd and dangerous scenarios. For instance, an individual who applies for a permit and is denied based on the sheriff's determination that he is a danger to himself or others would nevertheless be allowed, under Senate Bill. No. 656, to carry a concealed weapon in Missouri the moment he leaves the sheriff's office. I cannot support a system that would ignore a determination by the chief law enforcement officer of a county that an individual is a danger to the community and should not be authorized to carry a concealed firearm.

Missouri's system for granting concealed permits has been in place for more than a decade, and it has worked. Senate Bill No. 656 flouts this system, allowing individuals with no training, no proven handgun capability, and no background check to carry concealed. Law enforcement officials have not called for this change, and for good reason. Allowing currently prohibited individuals to automatically carry concealed firearms would make Missouri less safe.

In accordance with the above stated reasons for disapproval, I am returning Conference Committee Substitute for House Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 656 without my approval.

Herewith I return to you Senate Bill No. 641 entitled:

AN ACT

To repeal section 143.121, RSMo, and to enact in lieu thereof one new section relating to a deduction for compensation payments for agricultural losses.

I disapprove of Senate Bill No. 641. My reasons for disapproval are as follows:

Senate Bill No. 641 would create a new income tax break that could eviscerate the 2017 budget by requiring the state to issue over $50 million in refunds for past payments received as part of any program that compensates agricultural producers through the United States Department of Agriculture for lost profits as a result of droughts, floods and other natural disasters.

While these payments have a beneficial purpose, I cannot support exempting them for purposes of income tax and certainly not doing so retroactively. These payments are specifically intended to replace lost income and represent profits that would otherwise be subject to taxation just like any other business profits. That is precisely why these payments are currently treated as income under federal law, current Missouri law, and the law of 39 other states. Of the states with a state income tax, only one does not treat these payments as income, and even in that state the tax break was not applied retroactively when enacted. Missouri should not join this lonely class.

The provision was specifically written to be retroactive to tax years beginning on or after January 1, 2014, in order to allow amended tax returns for the previous two years to claim a refund back to a year in which historically high payments were received. These individuals have already received these payments, paid taxes on them, and if Senate Bill No. 641 were to become law, would receive a windfall in the form of a refund for those taxes previously paid on that income. Due in large part to its retroactivity, the fiscal impact of Senate Bill No. 641 is estimated to be as high as $51.5 million in general revenue for Fiscal Year 2017. This fiscal impact is significant and, more troubling, not accounted for in the Fiscal Year 2017 budget.

Apart from being poor tax policy, Senate Bill No. 641 is poor fiscal policy. Again this year the General Assembly passed a budget and then passed tax breaks such as this to divert the very revenue upon which the budget was based. Because the Fiscal Year 2017 budget fails to account for the reduction of revenue that would result from Senate Bill No. 641, executive action will be necessary to balance the budget if this bill were to become law.

In accordance with the above stated reasons for disapproval, I am returning Senate Bill No. 641 without my approval.

Herewith I return to you Senate Substitute No. 2 for Senate Bill No. 847 entitled:

AN ACT

To repeal section 490.715, RSMo, and to enact in lieu thereof one new section relating to evidence for the cost of medical care and treatment.

I disapprove of Senate Substitute No. 2 for Senate Bill No. 847. My reasons for disapproval are as follows:

In order for a person to be compensated for the harm they suffered as a result of the carelessness of another, the injured person is entitled to show a jury the total value of their losses—from past and future medical expenses to physical pain and suffering. Today, one way in which an injured person may help a jury to understand the extent and seriousness of their injuries is to show the jury the value of the medical care required for their treatment. This is a well-grounded, common-sense approach that has been used for many years.

Senate Substitute No. 2 for Senate Bill No. 847 (Senate Bill No. 847) abandons these principles, and instead substitutes an arbitrary rule that seeks to lessen the seriousness of a person's injury, not based on any physical evidence, but instead based primarily on deals made between insurance companies and healthcare providers that have nothing to do with the individual's injuries. This legislation would limit recoveries by injured people, and unfairly favor those who cause the injuries. It is fundamentally unjust, unmerited, and unnecessary and will not receive my support.

The value of medical treatment is an important piece of an injured person's total losses and a very critical piece of the information a jury considers when evaluating those injuries. Senate Bill No. 847 would completely undermine an injured individual's ability to fully and fairly establish their damages by illogically reducing the "actual cost of the medical care or treatment" through "adjustment for any contractual discounts, price reduction, or write-off by any person or entity."

Application of these reductions would significantly understate the true impact of the defendant's actions and would preclude the fact-finder from fully considering the harm suffered by the individual.

While Senate Bill No. 847 would be unfair to all injured individuals, it would be particularly unjust to those injured people who had the foresight and means to acquire insurance. It is those individuals with insurance who would have the value of their medical care or treatment most significantly reduced by contract or otherwise. These reductions afforded insurance companies by healthcare providers are often substantial and the admissibility of only the diminished or remaining cost, as would be required under Senate Bill No. 847, would wrongly limit an individual's recovery. As a result, this legislation would irrationally punish individuals with insurance and would do so to the benefit of the wrongdoer. This incongruous result illustrates the absurdity underlying this wrongheaded legislation.

Senate Substitute No. 2 for Senate Bill No. 847 is misguided policy purposely designed to benefit a wrongdoer at the expense of their victim and will not receive my approval.

In accordance with the above stated reasons for disapproval, I am returning Senate Substitute No. 2 for Senate Bill No. 847 without my approval.

Herewith I return to you Conference Committee Substitute for House Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 994 entitled:

AN ACT

To repeal sections 262.823, 311.060, 311.091, and 311.205, RSMo, and to enact in lieu thereof five new sections relating to alcohol.

I disapprove of Conference Committee Substitute for House Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 994 (Senate Bill No. 994). My reasons for disapproval are as follows:

Senate Bill No. 994 would provide authority for the Missouri Wine and Grape Board to hire attorneys to oversee legal services that promote the board's marketing goals, and is specifically intended to authorize the board to hire legal counsel to defend the interests of Missouri wine manufacturers in lawsuits that are brought against those companies in another state. Authorizing legal services that are intended to ensure that lawsuits against Missouri businesses are unsuccessful is ultimately an expenditure of public funds for a private purpose, which would violate the Missouri Constitution regardless of the substance or merit of the lawsuit. Mo. Const. Art. III, Section 38(a). While promoting the Missouri wine industry is a worthy and legal endeavor, using state tax dollars to pay attorneys to defend the interests of private litigants is not.

The Missouri Wine and Grape Board is a public entity with the primary goal to promote the Missouri grape and wine industry through technical and marketing support. Funding for the board is derived from an excise tax on wine, and revenues are deposited in the state treasury to be used for the functions specifically authorized by law. Section 311.554, RSMo. However, the Missouri Constitution is the ultimate authority on how public funds may be spent and specifically forbids the grant of public money to any private person, association or corporation. Mo. Const. Art. III, Section 38(a). And, the grant need not be given directly to a private person or corporation to violate the constitution. If the primary object of a public expenditure is to serve a public purpose, the expenditure is legal, even though it would also incidentally involve an expense, which, standing alone, would not be lawful. However, if the primary object is not to serve a public purpose, but to promote some private end, the expense is illegal, even though it may incidentally serve some public purpose. State ex rel. City of Jefferson v. Smith, 348 Mo. 554, 154 S.W.2d 101, 102 (Mo. banc 1941).

There is little doubt that House Bill No. 994's intended goal would result in the use of public funds for a private purpose. Indeed, an attorney would be hired and the intended expenditure would be triggered only when a Missouri company is subjected to litigation in another state. And, the outcome of that litigation will directly impact only the private company named as a defendant. Though the Missouri wine industry may ultimately benefit from a successful campaign to dismiss out-of-state claims against individual wine companies, that does not save an otherwise ill-conceived measure to allow state funds for an unconstitutional purpose. Whether it involves a promotion-worthy Missouri industry or not, I cannot support a bill that is intended to authorize a public entity to expend state revenue to support private litigants.

In accordance with the above stated reasons for disapproval, I am returning Conference Committee Substitute for House Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 994 without my approval.

Herewith I return to you Senate Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 591 entitled:

AN ACT

To repeal section 490.065, RSMo, and to enact in lieu thereof one new section relating to expert witnesses.

I disapprove of Senate Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 591. My reasons for disapproval are as follows:

Senate Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 591 (Senate Bill No. 591) would discard Missouri's well-established criteria guiding the admissibility of expert testimony and replace it with a much more intricate, complicated and costly procedure. These changes are not proposed to solve an existing problem but instead are designed to make it more difficult and expensive for parties to bring forward their case and recover their proper damages. The process presently in place is fair and equitable to all litigants and the substantial and harmful retreat that would be realized by adoption of this new approach will not receive my approval.

The new requirements contained in Senate Bill No. 591 would needlessly strain judicial resources, require trial judges to conduct unnecessary hearings and become quasi-experts on complex subjects, and, in many cases, would impose a substantial financial burden on litigants. The current, long-standing procedure governing the admissibility of expert testimony has served our state court system well. Senate Bill No. 591 would not improve upon this existing model but rather would abandon our current approach for the purpose of targeting injured litigants, whether individuals, small businesses or others, by making it more expensive – and perhaps cost prohibitive - to bring forward their claims. As revealed in the federal court system from where the language of this legislation is borrowed, these provisions could lead to extensive pretrial evidentiary proceedings that would needlessly clog our courts and unnecessarily drain financial resources from the parties.

Senate Bill No. 591 is a targeted attack on an injured party's ability to be justly compensated for their damages, a purpose that is confirmed by the fact that the bill would specifically retain our current expert admissibility standards for probate, juvenile and family court cases. Moreover, the legislation, designed to make it more difficult to admit expert testimony and avoid the use of "junk science," would nevertheless allow a property owner, "while not an expert," to testify as to the reasonable market value of their own land.

The inconsistent approach of Senate Bill No. 591 is indicative of the misguided impetus behind this legislation. Missouri trial judges properly understand and apply Missouri's common sense standards relating to the admissibility of expert testimony and it would be harmful and disruptive to adopt the federally authored changes contained in Senate Bill No. 591 into our Missouri courts.

In accordance with the above stated reasons for disapproval, I am returning Senate Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 591 without my approval.

Herewith I return to you Conference Committee Substitute for House Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 867 entitled:

AN ACT

To repeal sections 66.620, 67.402, 99.845, 136.055, 137.016, 137.100, 137.115, 137.565,182.802, 184.815, 190.335, 221.407, 233.180, 233.295, 304.190, 311.179, and 347.048, RSMo, and to enact in lieu thereof twenty new sections relating to political subdivisions.

I disapprove of Conference Committee Substitute for House Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 867. My reasons for disapproval are as follows:

Conference Committee Substitute for House Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 867 began its legislative existence as a simple, four-page bill containing a single, worthwhile measure providing a process for consolidating special road districts. Unfortunately, gathering legislative detritus on its voyage through the General Assembly, it transformed into an omnibus monstrosity running afoul of the Missouri Constitution and failing to gain my approval.

Since 1875, the Missouri Constitution has required legislation to be limited to its original purpose. This basic requirement promotes an open process to alert legislators and the general public to the substance of pending legislation and further prevents "logrolling," in which several matters that would not individually command a majority vote are bundled into a single bill to ensure passage. Despite repeated admonitions from the courts, omnibus bills violating this Constitutional requirement continue to be passed.

The Missouri Constitution provides that "no bill shall be so amended in its passage through either house as to change its original purpose." Mo. Const. Art. III, Sec. 21. This prohibition on adding "subject matter that is not germane to the object of the legislation or that is unrelated to its original subject" is meant to fairly apprise citizens of the subject of the legislation being considered. C.C. Dillon Co. v. City of Eureka, 12 S.W.3d 322, 326-27 (Mo. Banc 2000). Here, Conference Committee Substitute for House Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 867, began as an act "relating to county road district consolidation" but ballooned to 20 subjects ranging from tax deductions, to sheltered workshops, to property managers, to alcohol sales at an airport, to assessments of mining property, to state highway designations. Indeed, many of the provisions weighing down this legislation were inserted as amendments during the waning hours of session, without the benefit of a public hearing and with limited or no public debate.

The most egregious of these surreptitious additions would seek to impose new fees upon Missourians at license offices. If Conference Committee Substitute for House Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 867 were to become law, Missourians would be faced with a $2.00 "notary fee" at their local license office, despite a separate subsection of law unchanged by the amendment expressly prohibiting the charging of a notary fee. The second new fee sought to be imposed would allow license offices to charge $2.00 for each "electronic transmission" and each "electronic look-up." Neither "transmission" nor "look-up" is defined in the legislation, instead leaving the scope of this new fee to the fee office agent's imagination.

At the very least under this legislation, Missourians could be charged a new fee each and every time the license office sends an email ($2.00), receives a fax ($2.00), or electronically verifies information such as personal property tax ($2.00), insurance ($2.00), and a motor vehicle inspection ($2.00). Add in a notarized document ($2.00), and in a single transaction to register a motor vehicle, a Missourian could be facing an additional $12.00 in fees, on top of the $3.50 fee the license office can currently charge—more than quadruple the fees they could currently be charged.

As I stated in vetoing similar legislation in 2013, Missourians should not be asked to pay yet another new government fee to receive the same service they receive today, and certainly not by way of an eleventh hour amendment to an already swollen omnibus bill stretched far beyond the bill's original purpose. While my action today will prevent a number of worthwhile provisions from becoming law, including the measure that gave birth to the underlying bill, it will also prevent Missourians being charged new fees at license offices through a constitutionally suspect vessel.

In accordance with the above stated reasons for disapproval, I am returning Conference Committee Substitute for House Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 867 without my approval.

NINETY-EIGHTH GENERAL ASSEMBLY of the
STATE OF MISSOURI

SECOND REGULAR SESSION

FIRST DAY, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 6, 2016

Speaker Richardson in the Chair.

Prayer by Msgr. Robert A. Kurwicki, Chaplain.

Be strong in the Lord and in the power of His might. (Ephesians 6: 10)

O God of us all, may we follow the leading of Your spirit as we begin this New Year. Bless us with Your presence and help us always to be receptive to You and responsive to the needs of our fellow citizens.

At this time of prayer, the center of the political life of Missouri, we pray for our Speaker, Members of the House, their families and all who labor with them, that they may be strengthened to meet confidently the searching demands as we begin this new session.

Keep ever before us the goal of a better Missouri with justice alive in our state, with peace and good will in the hearts of all.

And the House says, "Amen!"

The Missouri State Highway Patrol, Troop F Color Guard, presented the Colors.

The Pledge of Allegiance to the flag was recited.

The Speaker appointed the following to act as Honorary Pages for the Day, to serve without compensation: Clark Cornejo, Nora Cornejo, and Ruthie Cornejo.

ADDRESS BY SPEAKER TODD RICHARDSON

Friends and colleagues, it is an honor to stand before you this afternoon as the speaker of the people's House.

Let me start by saying that each of us has the opportunity to serve here because we have people who have helped make it possible. I hope you will indulge me the opportunity to say thank you to the people - without which I would not be here today.

First, my parents - Mark and Kathy - are here today. My entire life they have been a constant source of encouragement and inspiration. Predictably my mother is crying right now - so please help her by making them feel welcome.

My son Sawyer is here - he is also representing his sister Briley. Sawyer and Briley are constant reminders to me that - while our work is important - the most important moments in life don't happen in this building. Sawyer asked me to tell all of you that he is AWESOME and I ask that you all make him feel welcome today.

Most importantly - my wife Amber is here. I am a better person because of her. She challenges me - she keeps me grounded - and has been a rock of support. Because none of you want to be on her bad side - please also make her feel welcome today.

As we begin another legislative session we do so at a difficult time for many in our state. In just the last few weeks we have seen flooding devastate so many parts of Missouri. I know so many of you have spent countless hours working with the people of your district to coordinate flood relief efforts. Our hearts and our prayers go out to the families and friends of those who were lost to the flooding, and to the many families who were displaced from their homes by the rising waters.

The job we do involves far more than making laws… It is a commitment and a duty to the people we serve to do all we can to help them during times of prosperity as well as times of need. Whether that's the work we do in the halls of government or rolling up our sleeves and helping volunteers to sandbag… our vow is to provide the help and the resources necessary to allow Missourians to persevere even during the most difficult times.

The events of the last few weeks are a reminder that we convene here at a time when serious challenges face this state. This is of course nothing new. Before addressing you, I actually took the time to watch the last seven opening day speeches from this house.

YouTube is a wonderful thing. All of those speeches predictably included some derivation of "serious challenges face this state."

They didn't have YouTube when the first session of this General Assembly convened in 1822, but I'm confident that our first speaker - the gentleman from Ste. Genevieve - likely invoked the same sort of sentiment.

In fact, I'm confident that for the last 195 years, the man or woman in my position who has taken this dais on this day has said similar things.

And they were right every time. We do face serious challenges - and as we've done in the past we will rise to meet them. But before we get to work on the challenges facing this state, I want to talk about what it means to serve in this House.

Americans have always been skeptical of people who do what we do - people who have the combination of guts, work ethic, and yes, at least a little bit of ego, people who are willing to put their name on a ballot and stand for election. Missourians in particular may be even more skeptical.. This is the home of Mark Twain, who reminded us that no man's life, liberty, or property is safe while the legislature is in session.

But our greatest leaders have not been those who have appealed to our fear or skepticism. They have been those who recognize our greatness. Both Republicans and Democrats have succeeded not by promising us the outcome, but by guaranteeing us the opportunity. From President Reagan to President Kennedy, they challenged us to recognize our potential and strive, each and every day, to use our skills to make our communities, our families, and ourselves better.

For more than 25 of you this will be your last opening day and your final opportunity as state representatives to make our state a better place. On my first day here, the Gentleman from Howell-at the start of his last term-told me: You will be shocked by how fast your time to serve here goes.

I am sure for those of you - who in a few short months will move on to other endeavors - that statement rings particularly true.

For three of you this will be your first session. I still remember the feeling of walking onto the floor of this house - in this magnificent chamber - for the first time. I hope the three of you will take a moment today to appreciate what you have accomplished but also to take stock of the challenge that is in front of you.

Most importantly - I hope that every member of this body remembers that the person they were before they were elected. Before your IQ grew by 40 points and your jokes got a whole lot funnier.

For the three of you who are new, you may have noticed that I have not referred to any current or previous member by their name. We don't do that here.

It's one of the subtle yet important daily reminders we have of why we are here.

When you take to this floor, you are not here as an individual.

We hold these offices in a public trust. They are not ours. They are the people's.

We do not serve for our own self-promotion or glory - but as the voices AND representatives of the people who sent us here.

For nearly 200 years, men and women have convened in this legislature in early January to embark on a four-month journey to make our state a better place.

I don't want anybody to lose sight of the tremendous honor it is to serve here and in a system of government that is infinitely greater than ourselves.

This body is bigger than us - individually and collectively. It existed for centuries before we were here. God-willing, it will exist for centuries after we are gone.

In keeping with the sentiment, as individuals we must be at our best and as an institution we must be better.

It is no secret that the legislature has had some challenging times over the last year. And there are certainly lessons to be learned from tragedy and scandal - just as there are from triumph and success. Whether we want it to be or not, we are serving in the General Assembly during a time that will define this body for a generation.

I don't get in my car on Monday mornings and drive to Jefferson City to serve in a gridlocked legislature embroiled in controversy. Like each of you I ran for office because I believed that in this House you could help make Missouri a better place to live work and raise a family.

This institution should not and will not be defined by the actions of a few. Together we will work to make this a place where all of you are proud to do the people's work and are proud of our accomplishments when you go home on Thursdays. That task starts immediately.

Tomorrow, on the first day that bills can be referred, I will refer every ethics bill that has been filed to the Committee on Government Oversight and Accountability. I am asking that committee to act with haste to send us a set of substantive - meaningful - single subject ethics bills so that they may be the very first matter that this general assembly tackles. In doing so we will improve the environment in Jefferson City - and begin the process of restoring the public's confidence in this institution. There is no rule or law that can make our imperfect process perfect . We can, and we must, work to improve the culture here in the people's capitol.

The surest way to improve the environment in this capitol and restore the public's trust in this institution is to focus on the job we were sent here to do. When we are at our best this general assembly has demonstrated the ability to do remarkable things to make our state a better place.

This isn't Washington. We do more than talk about problems. We actually get things done here.

Because of the work of people in this body we are on a path to ending the insidious practice of taxation by citation in our municipal court system.

Because of the work of this body taxpayers will get the first income tax cut in 100 years. Relief that will allow people to keep more of what they earn and spur economic growth.

Because of the work of this body we have started the process of transforming our welfare programs - into programs that actually focus on trying to get people out of poverty rather than trap them in it.

And because of the work of this body - there are 30% fewer abortions each year than there were just a decade ago.

But our impact isn't always found in those things that command headlines. Often this body's best work is found in the unheralded efforts to identify a problem and fix it.

Members of this body of all partisan and ideological backgrounds have come together to craft solutions to problems that fit no political category.

Look at the bipartisan work we have done to give Missourians with terminal illnesses access to potentially life-saving medications…

…or to make oral chemotherapy medications more affordable for Missourians battling cancer.

We have also worked together to ensure any Missourian with an eating disorder has access to the help and they care they need to live a healthy, productive life.

And we have taken proactive steps to protect children from the ever-growing dangers of human trafficking.

By doing so, we've made our state a better, more compassionate place.

Missourians from all regions, of all races, and all economic backgrounds too often feel as if the levers of government are rigged against them. Every member receives countless calls from constituents encountering difficulties that demand our attention. And when we address constituent issues successfully, we are improving the lives and livelihoods of Missourians in ways that often surpass the work done in this Chamber.

Despite the good work we've done - there is more to do.

We live in a state where wages are stagnant. Consider this; the spending power of a Missouri family is $5,000 LESS than it was at the start of this century.

We live in a state where a devastating cycle of dependency traps too many of our fellow Missourians in poverty. More people are on government assistance than ever before. Spending on welfare and entitlement programs is growing at a rate faster than our economy.

Medicaid expenditures have risen by more than 33% over the last seven years. And over that same period the state's General revenue has grown by less than 4%.

We live in a state and at a time where people are legitimately concerned about the most fundamental of rights. They are concerned that the basic right to religious liberty is in jeopardy. They are concerned about the safety and security of their families. They are concerned about a federal government that seems all too willing to ignore the constitution.

Most troubling is the fact we live in a state where people in many communities - both rural and urban - feel trapped. They feel trapped in a community that isn't safe - in a community that doesn't afford good education opportunities for their children. They feel trapped in a community where the promise of the American Dream is something people have long since forgotten.

These and other problems cannot be ignored. We must - as this body has done for 200 years - find answers to the seminal challenges of our time and make tough decisions.

Ultimately, the solutions to these problems will not be mine - rather they will be ours. We have the collective ability to solve the problems that now confront us. If we do not believe we are capable of it surely no one else will.

This House cannot be a place where inaction, infighting and indifference define us. This must be a place where we tackle and solve real problems. To be sure - there are many outside of this building who do not believe that is possible. The 35,000 people who each of us represent - expect us to. For the most part, our constituents don't care one bit about who gets the credit for the good stuff that happens and who gets the blame for the bad.

What they do care about is how did we use our time here? Did we use our time and the unique power we all hold - to make this state a better place and to be an advocate for those who sent us here. The answer to that question is the one that will define us.

Thank you - God bless you - and God bless the state of Missouri

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR

The following Proclamations were received from His Excellency, Governor Jeremiah W. (Jay) Nixon.

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, Article IV, Section 27, authorizes the Governor to control the rate at which any appropriation is expended by allotment and, further, authorizes the Governor to reduce the expenditures of the state or any of its agencies below their appropriations whenever the actual revenues are less than the revenue estimates upon which the appropriations were based; and

WHEREAS, in addition to the power to control the rate of expenditure established in Article IV, Section 27, three percent of each appropriation, with the exception of amounts for personal service to pay salaries fixed by law, shall be set aside pursuant to section 33.290, RSMo, as a reserve fund and not subject to expenditure except with the approval of the Governor; and

WHEREAS, Article IV, Section 27.2, provides that the Governor notify the General Assembly "whenever the rate at which any appropriation shall be expended is not equal quarterly allotments, the sum of which shall be equal to the amount of the appropriation"; and

WHEREAS, due to a variety of factors, including the three percent reserve that is legally required by section 33.290, RSMo, the rate at which most appropriations are expended is not in "equal quarterly allotments, the sum of which shall be equal to the amount of the appropriation"; and

WHEREAS, Article IV, Section 27.3, provides that the Governor notify the General Assembly "when the governor reduces one or more items or portions of items of appropriation of money as a result of actual revenues being less than the revenue estimates upon which the appropriations were based."

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Jeremiah W. (Jay) Nixon, GOVERNOR OF THE STATE OF MISSOURI, pursuant to Article IV, Section 27, do hereby make the following notification to the Ninety-Eighth General Assembly of the State of Missouri:

> I hereby notify the General Assembly, pursuant to Article IV, Section 27.2 of the Missouri Constitution, that, through the first quarter of fiscal year 2016, the rate of expenditure for each of the appropriation lines in the fiscal year 2016 budget attached as Exhibit A is not in equal quarterly allotments, the sum of which shall be equal to the amount of the appropriation.
> I further notify the General Assembly, pursuant to Article IV, Section 27.3 of the Missouri Constitution, that, through the first quarter of fiscal year 2016, I have taken no action to permanently reduce one or more items or portions of items of appropriation of money as a result of actual revenues being less than the revenue estimates upon which the appropriations were based in the fiscal year 2016 budget.

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, Article IV, Section 27, authorizes the Governor to control the rate at which any appropriation is expended by allotment and, further, authorizes the Governor to reduce the expenditures of the state or any of its agencies below their appropriations whenever the actual revenues are less than the revenue estimates upon which the appropriations were based; and

WHEREAS, in addition to the power to control the rate of expenditure established in Article IV, Section 27, three percent of each appropriation, with the exception of amounts for personal service to pay salaries fixed by law, shall be set aside pursuant to section 33.290, RSMo, as a reserve fund and not subject to expenditure except with the approval of the Governor; and

WHEREAS, Article IV, Section 27.2, provides that the Governor notify the General Assembly "whenever the rate at which any appropriation shall be expended is not equal quarterly allotments, the sum of which shall be equal to the amount of the appropriation"; and

WHEREAS, due to a variety of factors, including the three percent reserve that is legally required by section 33.290, RSMo, the rate at which most appropriations are expended is not in "equal quarterly allotments, the sum of which shall be equal to the amount of the appropriation"; and

WHEREAS, Article IV, Section 27.3, provides that the Governor notify the General Assembly "when the governor reduces one or more items or portions of items of appropriation of money as a result of actual revenues being less than the revenue estimates upon which the appropriations were based"; and

WHEREAS, by Proclamation dated October 9, 2015, the General Assembly was notified pursuant to Article IV, Section 27.2 of the Missouri Constitution that, through the first quarter of the 2016 fiscal year, the rate of expenditure for certain appropriation lines in the fiscal year 2016 budget is not in equal quarterly allotments, the sum of which shall be equal to the amount of the appropriation.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Jeremiah W. (Jay) Nixon, GOVERNOR OF THE STATE OF MISSOURI, pursuant to Article IV, Section 27, do hereby make the following notification to the Ninety-Eighth General Assembly of the State of Missouri:

I hereby notify the General Assembly, pursuant to Article IV, Section 27.2 of the Missouri Constitution, that, in addition to those appropriation lines contained in my Proclamation of October 9, 2015, the rate of expenditure for each of the appropriation lines in the fiscal year 2016 budget attached hereto as Exhibit A is not in equal quarterly allotments, the sum of which shall be equal to the amount of the appropriation.

I further notify the General Assembly, pursuant to Article IV, Section 27.3 of the Missouri Constitution, that I have taken no action to permanently reduce one or more items or portions of items of appropriation of money as a result of actual revenues being less than the revenue estimates upon which the appropriations were based in the fiscal year 2016 budget.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the Great Seal of the State of Missouri, in the City of Jefferson, on this 26th day of October, 2015.

JOURNAL OF THE HOUSE

Second Regular Session, 98th GENERAL ASSEMBLY

SECOND DAY, THURSDAY, JANUARY 7, 2016

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

Speaker Richardson in the Chair.

Prayer by Msgr. Robert A. Kurwicki, Chaplain.

Behold, God is my salvation; I will trust and not be afraid. (Isaiah 12:2)

O God of Grace and Glory, who is closer than breathing and nearer than our hands and feet, make us truly conscious of Your presence as we bow at this time of prayer.

We thank You for the refreshment of rest which restores our souls and we ask for strength and wisdom to do Your work well this day. In quiet confidence may we keep our hearts with You as we face the problems that are presented to us and the perplexities that pursue us.

In spite of all the terror in our world, we pray that we may be the promoters of good will in a firm determination to cross all barriers of race and creed and thus make our contribution to the coming day when justice and peace shall encircle the earth, and in the word of the ancient prophet, "They shall not hurt nor destroy; for the earth shall be full of the knowledge of the Lord."

And the House says, "Amen!"

The Pledge of Allegiance to the flag was recited.

SPECIAL RECOGNITION

The Honorable Roy Blunt, United States Senator, was introduced by Speaker Richardson.

JOURNAL OF THE HOUSE

Second Regular Session, 98th GENERAL ASSEMBLY

THIRD DAY, MONDAY, JANUARY 11, 2016

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

Speaker Richardson in the Chair.

Prayer by Representative Kenneth Wilson.

Father, we stand to join our hearts in prayer in our acknowledgment of our great need of Your guidance in our lives and in our work. Father, may Your blessings be with the members of this body as we think together and as we work together in this Chamber, as we work together in the many committee rooms and offices in this beautiful building.

Help each of us to stand up under the strains and the tensions of problems and decisions, and the endless demands placed upon us. May each of us remember the influence of a good example, so that all who come to this place may have a stronger faith in the process of our government.

Father, we ask for blessings and protection of our families who cope with our absence in their daily lives and responsibilities at home while we are serving here. May our private lives and our public actions be consistent with our prayers. In the name of our Lord, Jesus we pray.

And the House said, "Amen!"

The Pledge of Allegiance to the flag was recited.

The Journal of the second day was approved as printed by the following vote:

JOURNAL OF THE HOUSE

Second Regular Session, 98th GENERAL ASSEMBLY

FOURTH DAY, TUESDAY, JANUARY 12, 2016

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

Speaker Richardson in the Chair.

Prayer by Msgr. Robert A. Kurwicki, Chaplain.

Have mercy upon me, O God, according to Thy loving kindness and blot out my transgressions. (Psalm 51:1)

O Lord our source of light and life, be with the Members of this body. Prosper them in their work, guide them in their tasks, forgive their sins, and bless them as they endeavor to do justly, to love mercy, and to walk humbly with You.

Fervently do we invoke Your blessing upon our state. Protect her, O God, from disaster, discord, and division. Let not any enemy triumph over her but let the glories of a just and righteous people filled with good will increase from age to age.

Enlighten with Your wisdom and sustain with Your power those in authority, our Speaker and every Member of this House and everyone who is entrusted with our safety and with the guardianship of our rights and liberties.

May peace and good will be present in the hearts of all our citizens and may our common faith spread its blessings among us and exalt Missouri in justice and righteousness.

And the House says, "Amen!"

The Pledge of Allegiance to the flag was recited.

JOURNAL OF THE HOUSE

Second Regular Session, 98th GENERAL ASSEMBLY

FIFTH DAY, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 13, 2016

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

Speaker Richardson in the Chair.

Prayer by Msgr. Robert A. Kurwicki, Chaplain.

Teach me to do Thy will for Thou art my God and Thy spirit is good. Psalm (143:10)

O Eternal God, breathe upon us Your life giving spirit as we wait upon You in prayer. We come to You facing tasks that sometimes tower above our ability to handle well and living through days that disturb us with their demanding duties. In the midst of these unique responsibilities may the strengthening power of Your presence keep our hearts clean, our minds clear, and our spirits courageous.

Help us to hear Your still, small voice sounding through the thundering noise of these tumultuous times, and hearing it may we work together with You to fashion our beloved state into an instrument of good will through which Your will may be done in Missouri forever.

And the House says, "Amen!"

The Pledge of Allegiance to the flag was recited.

The Journal of the fourth day was approved as printed by the following vote:

(1) Perform any service for the state or any political subdivision thereof or any agency of the state or political subdivision for any consideration in excess of five hundred dollars per transaction or one thousand five hundred dollars per annum unless the transaction is made pursuant to an award on a contract let or sale made after public notice and competitive bidding, provided that the bid or offer accepted is the lowest received; or

(2) Sell, rent, or lease any property to the state or any political subdivision thereof or any agency of the state or political subdivision thereof for consideration in excess of five hundred dollars per transaction or one thousand five hundred dollars per annum unless the transaction is made pursuant to an award on a contract let or a sale made after public notice and in the case of property other than real property, competitive bidding, provided that the bid or offer accepted is the lowest and best received.

JOURNAL OF THE HOUSE

Second Regular Session, 98th GENERAL ASSEMBLY

SIXTH DAY, THURSDAY, JANUARY 14, 2016

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

Speaker Richardson in the Chair.

Prayer by Msgr. Robert A. Kurwicki, Chaplain.

The Lord shall preserve thy going out and thy coming in from this time forth and even forevermore. (Psalm 121:8)

O Lord, Our Loving God, whose mercy is over all Your works and whose will is ever directed to Your children's good, grant unto us the assurance that behind the shadows of our earthly life stands One who doesn't slumber and in the midst of our joys and sorrows lives One whose strength never fails, and whose love never falters.

As we look forward to the weekend ahead keep us mindful of Your favor, eager to do Your will, and ready to support our state in every good and noble way.

Give each of these Representatives strength for daily tasks, patience, particularly when others are impatient, and a loving heart even amid the frustration of those who differ with them on every issue. May they walk worthily in Your wonderful way for the welfare of Missouri and the well-being of all its citizens.

And the House says, "Amen!"

The Pledge of Allegiance to the flag was recited.

"The Star Spangled Banner" was performed by Ralph 'Lil Ralph' Beck, Jr.

JOURNAL OF THE HOUSE

Second Regular Session, 98th GENERAL ASSEMBLY

SEVENTH DAY, TUESDAY, JANUARY 19, 2016

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

Speaker Pro Tem Hoskins in the Chair.

Prayer by Msgr. Robert A. Kurwicki, Chaplain.

The Lord bless thee and keep thee and give thee peace. (Numbers 6:24, 26)

O God of our Ancestors, who is above all, and in all, and through all, we pause in Your presence invoking Your blessings upon us and upon the work of this afternoon. We confess that we have fallen short of our best but in spite of our shortcoming we are grateful that we have a high honor and the priceless privilege of working together to keep Missouri safe, honest and strong.

Now as this week begins we recommit ourselves to You and pray that You will strengthen us and continue to lead us as we strive to walk worthily in Your ways.

We bring our hearts together waiting for Your blessings. May God bless us and keep us, the Lord make His face to shine upon us and be gracious unto us, the Lord lift up His countenance upon us and give us peace, peace in our own hearts, peace in our beloved cities, and peace on our beautiful farms.

In the Master's name we pray.

And the House says, "Amen!"

The Pledge of Allegiance to the flag was recited.

The Speaker appointed the following to act as an Honorary Page for the Day, to serve without compensation: Michael Scott.

The Journal of the sixth day was approved as printed by the following vote:

JOURNAL OF THE HOUSE

Second Regular Session, 98th GENERAL ASSEMBLY

EIGHTH DAY, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 20, 2016

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

Speaker Pro Tem Hoskins in the Chair.

Prayer by Msgr. Robert A. Kurwicki, Chaplain.

If ye love Me, keep My commandments. (John 14:15)

O Lord, Eternal Spirit of God, who is from everlasting to everlasting, we offer to You this our morning prayer. Grant us wisdom to know Your ways, courage to act upon it, and strength to walk in them. Protect us from being too content with our lives and too satisfied with what we have done. Keep us from tolerating in ourselves what we condemn in others. Please help us to be understanding and forgiving. If reforms are to be made let them begin in our minds and hearts. Then may we be a part of our state's solutions and not a part of her tough problems.

As we listen to our Governor's message this evening, be present with him and renew our bodies, minds and hearts that we may present to You this day a life that is honest and sincere, dedicated to the best we know, and devoted to the greatest benefit of our beloved Show-Me State.

In the spirit of Almighty God we pray.

And the House says, "Amen!"

The Pledge of Allegiance to the flag was recited.

The Journal of the seventh day was approved as printed.

The Doorkeeper announced the approach of the Honorable Jeremiah W. (Jay) Nixon, Governor of the State of Missouri. The Governor was duly escorted to the House Chamber and the Speaker's dais, where he delivered the following message to the Assembly in Joint Session.

STATE OF THE STATE
ADDRESS BY
GOVERNOR JEREMIAH W. (JAY) NIXON

Thank you, Lt. Gov. Kinder, Speaker Richardson, President Pro Tem Richard, members of the General Assembly, Judges of the Missouri Supreme Court, state officials, members of my cabinet and honored guests.

I'm also delighted to be joined this evening by Missouri's First Lady - my wonderful wife, Georganne, and our sons Jeremiah and Will.

Thirty-two years ago, I was a young Jefferson County lawyer beginning a campaign for the state Senate, asking people to believe in my passion, my work ethic and my vision.

The people of my home county gave me their votes and an opportunity for a life in public service that has brought me to this moment.

The world is a very different place than it was in 1984. But as people, our hopes, dreams and fears haven't changed.

And politics at its core isn't different at all. It is still a great contest of ideas and how to put them into action.

So tonight I want to highlight some of the real progress - and outline the perils of inaction - on the critical issues that face us now.

Growing up in DeSoto, I went to Central Elementary School. Back then, students with challenges were warehoused in a separate building. At recess, they were the targets of jeers.

I remember at a young age understanding that this was wrong, and trying my best to do something about it. That experience taught me some fundamental lessons that have stayed with me ever since.

We aren't all given the same gifts, but we all have the same rights. And our service will ultimately be measured at Heaven's doorstep by what we did - or did not do - to help those in need.

Seven years ago I stood right here and talked about our shared values as Missourians.

Those values haven't changed. Values don't.

And the goals of progress, based on those values, haven't changed either.

Tonight - my final time at this podium speaking to Missouri, to you in this room, and to history - I will be clear about my vision for a shared path forward...and the steps we can to take to grow our economy, improve our schools, care for those in need and earn the trust of the people we serve.

And I pledge to you that I will do everything I can, with the power entrusted in me, to move us - to move you - to action.

Action carries risks. But it's the risk-takers who make history.

Inaction is always easier. But inaction is also a decision with real consequences. So tonight I ask all Missourians - and especially those in this room - to join with me.

Choose action over inaction to make life better for the people of our state.

Don't fight for partisan reasons - yours or mine. Instead, let's join together to fight for progress.

In my first state of the state address in 2009, I set five broad goals for our state based on values we share as Missourians. And on four of these five goals, we've taken huge strides.

My first priority was jobs... and since the worst of the downturn, more than 100,000 new jobs have been created in Missouri.

Second, as Chief Executive, I pledged to take the actions necessary to balance the state budget every year without raising taxes, because we believe in fiscal responsibility. We did so for seven straight years, and will continue on that path under my budget.

My third goal was to make college better and more affordable, because education is the key to our future. Today, Missouri is number one in the country for keeping a lid on tuition increases, and under my budget we'll stay number one this year.

My fourth goal was to provide more Missourians with better health care. Today, 100,000 more children have health care than the day I took office.

And this year, we'll make historic investments to help Missourians with developmental disabilities and mental illness live with dignity and hope.

The fifth goal I set was ethics reform. Let's get real ethics reform on my desk this session so I can sign it into law.

Honest, transparent and accountable state government starts with remembering what we're here to do, and who we're here to serve:

People like Sarah Galbraith and Alan Doan. Eight years ago, they took a risk and started the Missouri Star Quilt Company in the small town of Hamilton. Now it's the largest employer in Caldwell County - and brings thousands of visitors to Hamilton each year.

People like Rebecca Balfanz - a mother who grew up in foster care and who is now on track to finish her degree in elementary education early from WGU-Missouri, to make life better for her kids.

And people like Kelsey Mack. Kelsey has cerebral palsy, but she didn't let it stop her dream. She opened a shop in Blue Springs selling items made exclusively by people with disabilities, to help them be more independent and empowered.

Like so many Missourians, these folks didn't fold in the face of a challenge. They persevered. Because that's what the people of Missouri do.

Just a few short weeks ago, floodwaters inundated many parts of the state, claiming 16 lives and threatening hundreds more. And as always, Missourians stood together, and reached out to help their neighbors in need.

Let me share one remarkable story with you.

On Dec. 27, just after 2 a.m., a call went out to the Missouri State Highway Patrol about a man who had been swept away by the floodwaters of the Pomme de Terre River in Polk County.

Corporal David Brown and Trooper Robert Garrett sprang into action. As they neared the Highway 215 Bridge, they could hear someone shouting for help, but it was far too dark to see on that cold night.

In spite of the danger, they launched a jet boat into the raging river. As Trooper Garrett steered through the treacherous currents, their spotlight hit the face of a young man desperately clinging to the branches of a tree ten feet above the water's surface.

As the man began to climb down to his rescuers, he slipped and fell into the freezing river. Before the swift current could pull him under, Corporal Brown hauled him into the boat and got him safely to dry land.

Their training paid off; a life was saved.

The willingness to risk their lives for others is a defining characteristic of all those who answer the call to service - as first responders, law enforcement officers and members of the military. They run toward danger, not away from it.

Corporal Brown and Trooper Garrett, please stand. You represent all those who serve our state and our nation with honor. Please accept the thanks of your state.

As Governor, I've seen many natural disasters - from floods and drought, to ice storms and tornadoes. We seem to get more than our fair share.

Maybe that's why Missourians have such grit... fortitude... and a relentless work ethic. No one works harder or competes tougher.

That's why job creation was the first goal I set back in 2009 - and why it continues to be my top priority moving forward. In '09, Missouri's unemployment rate spiked to nearly 10 percent; today, it's down to only 4.4 percent - 4.4 percent, that's lower than the national average, and the lowest it's been in 15 years.

When I took office, the auto industry in Missouri was on life support. Today, it's back and booming, and Missouri is home to the most productive Ford plant in the world.

When I took office, a lot of talented entrepreneurs couldn't get access to the capital they needed.

Today, Missouri is number one in the nation in new business creation.

GDP is up, home prices have rebounded, and personal income continues to rise.

The state of our state is strong - and getting stronger each day. But we can't let up.

We need to keep our economy moving - keep our fiscal house in order, and keep our AAA credit rating intact.

The balanced budget I present tonight continues our commitment to my second goal: fiscal responsibility.

Over the last seven years, we've made state government smaller, smarter and more efficient - while making $2 billion in cuts necessary to balance the budget. Not everyone liked those cuts, and they weren't easy to make. But Missouri is stronger today because we took action.

In an election year like this, there are folks out there who claim the size of government has grown, and that spending is out of control.

Maybe that's true in Washington. But not here in the Show-Me State.

Here in Missouri we balance our budgets, we pay the bills, and we pay down debt.

In fact, when I leave office, we will have less debt than when I came in.

State government today is 5,087 positions smaller than when I took office, and under my budget it will keep getting smaller. 5,000 is about the size of my hometown of DeSoto, or all of Putnam County.

Balancing budgets. Paying our bills. Protecting our AAA credit rating.

Responsibility and accountability matter - that's what taxpayers expect and what they deserve.

Our AAA rating is the gold standard. It tells businesses around the globe that the Show-Me State is a smart place to invest. And it's a big selling point for our state.

Time and time again it has been a deal-closer for Missouri - unlike Illinois, which can't even pass a budget, or Kansas, which can't even pay its bills.

And both of those states had their credit ratings downgraded. Meanwhile, Missouri's economy keeps growing.

Last week I was back at the auto show in Detroit, where - once again - the spotlight was on the all-new vehicles built with pride here in Missouri.

Before I took office, auto plants were closing; one out of every three jobs in the automotive industry in Missouri had disappeared. And the first time I went up to the Auto Show, the mood was grim.

Seven years later, more than 24,000 men and women are working at auto plants and suppliers in Warrensburg and Willow Springs; Perryville and Portageville; Mexico and Moberly; in Troy, Dexter, New Haven and, of course, St. Louis and Kansas City, where employment at the Ford and GM plants has more than doubled.

Today, Missouri workers build the toughest, safest, most innovative and in-demand vehicles in the world:

The Ford F-150 - America's best-selling pickup truck: Made in Missouri.

The 2016 Truck of the Year, the Chevy Colorado: Made in Missouri.

The best-selling commercial van in the U.S., the Ford Transit: Made in Missouri.

American made - Missouri strong.

And by rebuilding the American auto industry, we're helping rebuild the middle-class.

Last year every union worker at Ford and GM got a huge bonus: thousands of dollars, right into the pockets of the working men and women of our state. Those bonuses paid off credit cards and student loans… put Royals hats and Cardinals jerseys under the Christmas tree… and poured tens of millions of dollars into our economy.

Last year, if you'll recall, we were joined by a crowd of cheering autoworkers who came to the Capitol to show their gratitude for the work we did here.

They're not here tonight - because they're working. Demand is so high they even had to give up lunch breaks at the GM plant.

So next time you see one of those shiny new Colorados or F-150s, remember who built them: skilled union workers, making good union wages, and keeping the American dream alive right here in the Show-Me State.

But the economic growth we've seen isn't just in Kansas City and St. Louis, it's in Sedalia and Springfield, St. Joe and Joplin.

Joplin…where the population is greater today than it was before the tornado in 2011, and where the economy is going strong.

With faith and courage, the people of Joplin rebuilt their community from the ground up - planting trees and painting murals; rebuilding homes and hospitals, schools and churches, playgrounds and businesses.

One of those new businesses belongs to Toby Teeter, an entrepreneur I met at Joplin's Newman Innovation Center. About a year ago, Toby started a tech company called LocalRaces.com. It builds websites that communities and charities can use to organize running events, from 5ks to marathons.

Toby's biggest challenge was finding the funds he needed to get his concept up and running. Our Missouri Technology Corporation provided $100,000 in seed capital that Toby was able to match with private investments. Today, Local Races dot com is growing, and hiring - creating high-tech jobs in the heart of Joplin.

Please join me in recognizing Toby, his wife Ashleigh, and all the entrepreneurs who are helping to make Missouri a hub of technology and innovation.

Thanks to the work we've done here, MTC has already helped startups across the state leverage more than $200 million in private investment.

Maybe that's why recent census data showed that Missouri was number one in the nation in creating new businesses - number one.

While new business creation declined in 39 states, Missouri bucked that trend with a dramatic increase in startups. That's a very big deal.

To continue this momentum, my budget increases funding for the Missouri Technology Corporation by $10 million to help more entrepreneurs innovate and grow right here in the Show-Me State.

Tourism is another important part of our economy.

That's why, when I took office, I wanted to reverse a 10-year decline in state park attendance. While budget cuts forced other states to close parks or charge entrance fees, we kept ours open - and free for all.

Missouri has been recognized as the best state in the nation for camping and hiking. Last year, our state parks had more than 19.2 million visitors. That's a new record and an increase of nearly 30 percent since 2008. More young people are out hunting in our woods and fishing in our lakes and streams.

With our focus on marketing Missouri to the world, tourism's economic impact in the Show-Me State has surged by nearly 30 percent, supporting nearly 300,000 jobs. To continue this success, my budget this year includes another $3 million to get the word out about all Missouri has to offer.

For example, this year, we will extend the Katy Trail all the way across our state and expand our park system, giving folks even more reasons to enjoy the outdoors, and spend money in the Show-Me State.

When we talk about ways to keep our economy moving forward, we've got to include Missouri's number one industry: agriculture.

My budget includes funding for scholarships for the next generation of Missouri dairy farmers, and additional resources to increase the value of our cattle industry.

I would like to recognize our outstanding Agriculture Director Richard Fordyce, up in the gallery. He's got a great group of folks with him tonight: the hardworking producers who earned the Governor's Award for Agricultural Achievement.

People talk about agriculture being the backbone of our state. Well, these folks are the backbone of agriculture.

When your alarm clock goes off in the morning, they're already up, breaking the ice in the stock tank.

When you're kicking back in the recliner after dinner to watch your favorite TV show, they're out in the shed, working on the tractor.

This year's winners hail from every part of our state - New Madrid to Norborne, Aurora to Fayette - raising corn, beans, apples, timber, chickens and hogs.

Please join me in thanking them for all they do to feed, fuel and clothe our state, our nation and our world.

Our producers are doing their part. Now we have to do ours.

We can't sell Missouri goods if we can't get them to market.

That's why my budget invests an additional $5 million to improve and expand our ports - so we can ship more Missouri goods around the world and create more jobs here at home.

We've also got too many bad roads and rickety bridges. We all know it, and it's time to act.

Roads aren't free. Last time I checked, nobody was giving away concrete and asphalt.

I've been clear about my position: if you use the roads, you should help pay for them. What I don't support is taking money that should go to schools, law enforcement and mental health, and using it to patch potholes.

With gas prices the lowest they've been in more than a decade, now is the time to get this done.

Senator Libla, I appreciate your leadership in this area. I'm looking for your bill to move into the passing lane and get to my desk this year. Let's work together to move transportation forward in Missouri.

Another way we can continue to strengthen our economy is by strengthening Missouri families.

Finding good, affordable childcare is a challenge for every working family in America - and especially those with low incomes. That's why my budget makes child care more affordable for 20,000 low-income working families, reducing their out-of-pocket costs.

And this year, we are going to expand family-friendly policies like parental leave for state employees.

It's good for kids, it's good for families - and it's good for our state.

We need to strengthen all families.

In July, I signed an executive order to ensure compliance with the U.S. Supreme Court's decision establishing a right to same-sex marriage. No one should be discriminated against because of who they love.

We've come a long way on this issue, but there is more to be done. It is unacceptable that Missourians can still be fired for being gay. That's wrong, it's not who we are - and it must change.

I repeat my call for the General Assembly to pass the Missouri Nondiscrimination Act, which would prohibit discrimination against LGBT Missourians in employment, housing and public accommodations.

Equal opportunity and social justice go hand-in-hand; one cannot exist without the other.

We are upholding these principles and restoring trust through sweeping municipal court reforms and improved police training.

Our POST Commission has put forward strong new rules to update and enhance Missouri's police training standards. We also need to update our use of force statute. Let's support our cops - and the communities they serve. Let's get this done.

The third priority I identified when I took office was education. Public education is the best economic development tool we've got, and it's a value we share.

Our children need an education that prepares them to be critical thinkers and problem-solvers - innovators who will rise to the challenges of climate change and food production, harness clean energy, and conquer disease.

That's why, even during the worst of the recession, we never backed away from our commitment to support our public schools. We provided record funding - and set higher expectations.

There were some who doubted whether our students and schools were up to the challenge, who said the new state standards were too tough, too ambitious.

I disagreed. I knew that if we raised our expectations, our students would rise to meet them. No gimmicks or voucher schemes - just great teachers, the right tools, strong communities, and a shared commitment to excellence.

And we are getting results. Test scores are rising. Our graduation rate is now in the top 10 in the nation. And more high school graduates are college ready.

My budget ensures that education remains a top priority with an increase of $150 million - record funding - for our local public schools.

That includes funding for the foundation formula, special education, transportation, and struggling school districts.

And for the first time, we'll be funding early childhood education through the foundation formula, giving more than 2,500 kids access to high quality pre-school this year.

Under my budget, troubled schools will get the early-intervention and support they need to turn things around. And more students in low-income communities will have the opportunity to learn 21st Century skills like computer science.

These investments in our future are possible because over the last seven years - even in the throes of the Great Recession - we kept our fiscal house in order and made smart decisions about our priorities, like education.

Because we did, the budget I present tonight invests $400 million more in the K-12 foundation formula than when I became Governor.

Funding is an essential part of the equation for successful schools. So is the drive to succeed.

Tonight we are joined by Dr. Scott Spurgeon, superintendent of the Riverview Gardens School District in St. Louis County, and some of Riverview's outstanding high school seniors.

The district includes areas of high crime, poverty and unemployment. Like so many urban school districts, that combination can create tough challenges for teachers, students and families. But under Dr. Spurgeon's dynamic leadership, the district has rallied.

Dr. Spurgeon played some serious baseball as a young man. He knows what it takes to compete and to win.

So it shouldn't come as a surprise that Riverview was the most improved school district in the state last year, and continues to make dramatic progress. You want to see what relentless focus and hard work can do?

Meet the outstanding, college-bound students here with us tonight - Cameron Johnson, Darius Bass, Cordell Billups, Kristofer Grant, Devyn Walton and Shannon Washington.

Please join me in congratulating Dr. Spurgeon and these talented young people.

In 2009, too many kids couldn't afford college - and those who did get a degree were saddled with too much debt.

But today, more kids are going to college, getting their degrees - all while taking on far less debt than the national average. We're talking thousands of dollars less.

In fact, Missouri is number one in the nation in holding down tuition increases at our four-year institutions. Number one.

This year, we will strengthen Missouri's position as a leader in college affordability and quality.

First, my budget includes an additional $56 million in performance funding. And with this historic investment, our public colleges and universities will once again freeze tuition for Missouri undergraduates this fall. They won't pay a penny more.

We're also upping our investment in Missouri's A+ scholarship program to keep up with increasing demand. When I took office, fewer than half the schools in the state were A+, but today nearly all of them are - because I believed every student deserved an opportunity to earn an A+ scholarship.

For low-income families, we're putting more money in Access Scholarships - reducing the cost of college for tens of thousands of students.

By focusing on affordability and demanding quality, we've driven a surge in college completion.

Last year, more than 50,000 students earned a degree from one of our public institutions - up 36 percent since I took office.

Thirty-six percent. That's a big number - and a lot of proud parents.

My budget provides more resources to train even more Missourians for careers in high-demand health care fields.

And thanks to people in this room and our AAA credit rating, there are construction projects underway right now on campuses across the state: an engineering building at Mizzou, chemistry and biology labs at UMKC and Missouri S&T, renovations at Baldwin Hall at Truman, 19 new labs at St. Louis Community College... and the list goes on.

The best way to secure our future is by investing in the people who will lead it - the next generation. We're making a difference. Let's keep it up.

Let's also work together to protect kids and consumers by reining in the billion-dollar daily fantasy sports industry.

Let's get real: this is gambling, kids are playing, and it's completely unregulated. And there are lobbyists in this building who want to keep it that way. If you're going to legalize it, we must regulate it and tax it just like we do casinos.

This industry should follow the law, play by the rules, and pay its fair share. This could mean millions of dollars a year for education.

I spoke earlier about the children with special needs at my elementary school, who were made fun of on the playground because they were different. Doing more for children like them has been a passion of mine ever since.

When I took office, insurance companies didn't cover therapy for thousands of Missouri kids with autism. Today, thousands of children are receiving life-changing therapy because we worked together and passed landmark autism legislation.

And with increased funding in my budget, we will build a new autism center at Truman State University, expand the Thompson Center for Autism in Columbia, and increase services at Mercy Kids Autism Center in St. Louis. That means more research, more treatment, better training and healthier kids.

When I took office, Missourians with developmental disabilities had to wait years for in-home Medicaid services. Today, there is no waiting list. Zero.

Under my budget, it will stay at zero - and we'll provide additional resources to those who care for Missourians with developmental disabilities.

We also need to reach out to those Missourians with severe mental illness.

When I took office, some of these people were locked up in a dangerous and decrepit facility in Fulton, first opened in 1851. It will soon be replaced by a state-of-the-art psychiatric hospital dedicated to modern treatment, rehabilitation and research.

Too often Missourians with severe mental illness can't afford the treatment they need. And so they bounce in and out of our jails and emergency rooms - and back out onto the streets. It's expensive, counterproductive and no way for anyone to live.

My budget includes $1.6 million to get those folks out of our emergency rooms, off the streets, and into treatment.

Today, in every county in the state, mental health professionals are partnering with local law enforcement to help those suffering from chronic mental illness find treatment and stability.

But our work is not finished.

Our goal is to help more individuals get into treatment earlier, before they reach a crisis point.

That's why this year we will roll out a crisis prevention program for Missourians between the ages of 21 and 35 with serious mental illness and substance abuse problems.

And while we're at it, Missouri needs to join the other 49 states in the nation, get a prescription drug monitoring program, and start to get a handle on the epidemic of opiate abuse.

In total, my budget includes an increase of nearly $200 million for services to help Missourians with developmental disabilities and mental illness.

These programs change lives. They save lives. We can work together to make our communities safer, healthier and stronger.

We also need to provide quality care for our proud veterans, including thousands of men and women who served in Vietnam. Last year, I signed legislation to provide $33 million in improvements to our veterans' homes.

But we can do more. My budget includes funds for the design of a new veterans home, so that no veteran has to languish on a waiting list.

They did their duty - let's do ours.

There's a lot of rhetoric in politics today about helping working families. How about helping them get health care?

Right now we've got a backward system in our state. It encourages folks to sit at home and not work, and punishes working Missourians with jobs that don't offer health insurance.

More than 30 states already have expanded Medicaid, including ten with Republican legislatures.

This should be the year that we find a way forward, with a Missouri solution that rewards work, demands personal responsibility, brings our tax dollars home, and gives health care to 300,000 working Missourians.

Make no mistake - inaction has real consequences. It's time to stop playing politics with people's lives. Do the right thing and give them access to health care.

The fifth goal I set when I took office was ethics reform. Missouri's ethics laws are a disgrace - the weakest in the nation.

The people of Missouri are nobody's fools. They understand that a donor who writes you a fat check expects something in return.

They know that if a lobbyist showers you with gifts, or takes you to the country club for cocktails and the surf-and-turf, he's going to lean on you before dessert.

They know it's wrong for legislators to launder campaign contributions by paying each other for political advice. Missouri has got to clean up its act.

I want to thank Speaker Richardson for pushing forward on this issue. But we're a long way from the finish line. Let's come together, restore the public's trust and pass real ethics reform now.

Before I close, I'd like to introduce you to a family that demonstrates the kind of difference we can make when we work together.

Paul and Jennifer Johnson are originally from Indiana. Paul was an electrician at the GM plant in Kokomo, and Jennifer was a stay-at-home mom. But in Indiana, GM was downsizing and Paul got laid off. He had just drawn his last unemployment check when he got an offer to work at the GM plant here in Missouri. He jumped at the chance.

Six months later, Jennifer got a job at the plant as well. Now they're both building next-generation vehicles here in the Show-Me State.

They like living in Wentzville so much that they convinced their daughter and her two kids to move nearby. Jennifer says the school district is awesome.

But the biggest upside of their move is how well their grandson, Tristan, is doing. Tristan has autism. Before their move to Missouri, he was nonverbal. But with the help of therapy, he's now speaking - and thriving. Jennifer says it's had a huge impact on their family.

Paul and Jennifer are here with us tonight and I want to thank them for reminding us what Missouri is all about. We work hard. We build things. We care for people who need it. And we welcome everyone.

In the past three decades, I've learned a great deal from the people I've had the privilege to serve.

I've learned that Missourians are stronger, more resilient and more generous than you could ever imagine.

I've learned that Missouri's rich diversity is not a weakness - it's a strength.

I've learned that Missourians never shy away from a challenge. We listen, we learn and we get better.

I've also learned that there's a big difference between politics and public service.

Politics is a horse race, but the stakes are much higher than winning the election. The real prize is the opportunity to make life better - for people you don't know and may never meet.

And I am profoundly grateful that the people of Missouri have given me that high honor.

My mom taught kids with developmental disabilities. She worked hard at a job she loved, cared deeply for others, and always stood up for what she knew was right.

She passed away before I became a state senator. But I am still trying to live up to her expectations and ideals - that we have an obligation to serve all Missourians: young and old, rich and poor, black and white, gay and straight, new arrivals and native sons.

And when we work together - guided by our shared values - and focus on the right things, we can make a lasting difference.

When I started in this job, Missouri was staring down the barrel of a crisis - unemployment was skyrocketing, factories were closing, and people were losing their homes and cars.

Some of you were here then - Senator Walsh, Senator Wasson, Representative Engler - you remember: it was rough.

We were getting WARN notices practically every day about layoffs.

But we had a plan. We stuck to it.

And we delivered: a hundred thousand new jobs; a balanced budget every year without higher taxes; better schools and affordable college; and healthier kids.

Do we have more work to do? Of course.

But look where we are now: 4.4 percent unemployment, personal income and GDP on the rise, number one in new business creation, AAA credit rating intact.

I appreciate those of you in this room who put progress before partisanship to move our state forward.

But as always, the real credit belongs to the people of Missouri.

Together, Missourians of every generation have worked hard to build a brighter future.

Our enduring values have guided us through good times and bad.

And because I share those values, I am optimistic about our future - optimistic that the people of Missouri will prevail in the face of every challenge, and enjoy the blessings of freedom, equality and prosperity for years to come.

Let's use the brief time that remains to each of us, to work together and leave Missouri better than we found it.

God willing, it will be.

Thank you and God bless.

The Joint Session was dissolved by Senator Kehoe.

Speaker Richardson resumed the Chair.

The following Proclamation was received from His Excellency, Governor Jeremiah W. (Jay) Nixon.

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, Article IV, Section 24, of the Missouri Constitution was amended by the voters on November 4, 2014; and

WHEREAS, Article IV, Section 24, requires the Governor to submit to the General Assembly a budget for the ensuing appropriation period, containing the estimated available revenues and proposed expenditures of the state; and

WHEREAS, Article IV, Section 24 was amended to specify that the Governor will not determine estimated available revenues using any new revenues created from proposed legislation that has not been passed into law by the General Assembly.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, JEREMIAH W. (JAY) NIXON, GOVERNOR OF THE STATE OF MISSOURI, do hereby submit the following proposal for the General Assembly's action during the 2016 legislative session.

That the General Assembly pass fiscally responsible legislation to reform and expand Medicaid, providing access to health care for nearly 300,000 Missourians, bringing our tax dollars home, and yielding $101 million in revenue and savings.

Further, I call on the General Assembly to pass legislation to transfer general revenue in an amount equal to the revenue and savings generated by reforming and expanding Medicaid into a Healthcare Protection Fund to be used solely to pay the general revenue share of costs for individuals eligible for Medicaid services as a result of expansion of eligibility to one hundred thirty-three percent of the federal poverty level.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the Great Seal of the State of Missouri, in the City of Jefferson, this 20th day of January, 2016.

JOURNAL OF THE HOUSE

Second Regular Session, 98th GENERAL ASSEMBLY

TENTH DAY, MONDAY, JANUARY 25, 2016

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

Speaker Richardson in the Chair.

Prayer by Representative Tila Hubrecht.

Dear Lord, Thank You for keeping us safe in our traveling over these past few days and for bringing us safely back to this Assembly.

As we are here, doing the People's business, remind us of our priorities to our families. Put Your hand around our families as we are gone and please remind them of our love for them and our commitment to them. Strengthen our families and keep our families intact, as we are gone so much of the time.

Remind us that we are here for only a fleeting moment in time but that time can be for the good of us, our family, and our State; or it can be for the opposite.

This week as we review legislation and issues that come before our State, give us the wisdom to make decisions in accordance with Your will. You state in Your word that You will guide us into all truth so we ask You to do that now. Let Your words be the guide to us; let us seek Your will in all things.

We, as Your servants, have an obligation to be informed on the issues and legislation before us. Help us to construct our schedules in such a way that allows us to be diligent in our work and to carefully consider matters before we speak and most importantly before we vote.

Give us insight to inquire more deeply, where we need to, give us eyes to see what is true, what is just, and what is best for not only our State but most importantly for the people who live in our State.

We thank you for the privilege of being here in service to our State and we ask that You remind us that for such a time as this we have been called. Thank You for all Your blessings and please stay by our side. We ask all this in Your Son's name.

Amen.

The Pledge of Allegiance to the flag was recited.

The Journal of the ninth day was approved as printed.

JOURNAL OF THE HOUSE

Second Regular Session, 98th GENERAL ASSEMBLY

ELEVENTH DAY, TUESDAY, JANUARY 26, 2016

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

Speaker Richardson in the Chair.

Prayer by Msgr. Robert A. Kurwicki, Chaplain.

Lead me in Thy truth and teach me, for Thou are the God of my salvation. (Psalm 25:5)

O Lord, our Loving God, grant to the Members of this body, and all who work with them and for them, a fresh sense of Your presence as we take up the important duties of this day. May we learn to think Your thoughts and to keep our hearts open to our people. We pray that wisdom will come as we make important decisions, charity as we relate ourselves to one another and courage as we endeavor to do what is right and good for all.

In this moment of morning prayer, breathe on us, O breath of God, fill us with new and abundant life, that we may love what You love, and do what You would do both now and forever.

And the House says, "Amen!"

The Pledge of Allegiance to the flag was recited.

The Journal of the tenth day was approved as printed by the following vote:

COMMITTEE REPORTS

Committee on Agriculture Policy, Chairman Houghton reporting:

Mr. Speaker: Your Committee on Agriculture Policy, to which was referred HB 1413, begs leave to report it has examined the same and recommends that it Do Pass with House Committee Amendment No. 1, and pursuant to Rule 27(2) be referred to the Select Committee on Agriculture.

House Committee Amendment No. 1

AMEND House Bill No. 1413, Page 1, Section A, Line 1, by inserting after all of said section and line the following:

"142.028. 1. As used in this section, the following terms mean:

(1) "Fuel ethanol", a fuel which meets ASTM International specification number D 4806 or subsequent specifications for blending with gasoline for use as automotive spark-ignition engine fuel and where the ethanol is made from cereal grains, cereal grain by-products, or qualified biomass;

(2) "Fuel ethanol blends", a mixture of ninety percent gasoline and ten percent fuel ethanol in which the gasoline portion of the blend or the finished blend meets the ASTM International specification number D 4814;

(3) "Missouri qualified fuel ethanol producer", any producer of fuel ethanol whose principal place of business and facility for the fermentation and distillation of fuel ethanol is located within the state of Missouri and is at least fifty-one percent owned by agricultural producers actively engaged in agricultural production for commercial purposes, and which has made formal application, posted a bond, and conformed to the requirements of this section;

(4) "Professional forester", any individual who holds a bachelor of science degree in forestry from a regionally accredited college or university with a minimum of two years of professional forest management experience;

(5) "Qualified biomass", any wood-derived organic material harvested in accordance with a site specific forest management plan focused for long-term forest sustainability developed by a professional forester and qualified, in consultation with the conservation commission, by the Missouri agricultural and small business development authority.

2. The "Missouri Qualified Fuel Ethanol Producer Incentive Fund" is hereby created and subject to appropriations shall be used to provide economic subsidies to Missouri qualified fuel ethanol producers pursuant to this section. The director of the department of agriculture shall administer the fund pursuant to this section.

3. A Missouri qualified fuel ethanol producer shall be eligible for a monthly grant from the fund, except that a Missouri qualified fuel ethanol producer shall only be eligible for the grant for a total of sixty months unless such producer during those sixty months failed, due to a lack of appropriations, to receive the full amount from the fund for which they were eligible, in which case such producers shall continue to be eligible for up to twenty-four additional months or until they have received the maximum amount of funding for which they were eligible during the original sixty-month time period. The amount of the grant is determined by calculating the estimated gallons of qualified fuel ethanol production to be produced from Missouri agricultural products or qualified biomass for the succeeding calendar month, as certified by the department of agriculture, and applying such figure to the per-gallon incentive credit established in this subsection. Each Missouri qualified fuel ethanol producer shall be eligible for a total grant in any fiscal year equal to twenty cents per gallon for the first twelve and one-half million gallons of qualified fuel ethanol produced from Missouri agricultural products or qualified biomass in the fiscal year plus five cents per gallon for the next twelve and one-half million gallons of qualified fuel ethanol produced from Missouri agricultural products or qualified biomass in the fiscal year. All such qualified fuel ethanol produced by a Missouri qualified fuel ethanol producer in excess of twenty-five million gallons shall not be applied to the computation of a grant pursuant to this subsection. The department of agriculture shall pay all grants for a particular month by the fifteenth day after receipt and approval of the application described in subsection 4 of this section. If actual production of qualified fuel ethanol during a particular month either exceeds or is less than that estimated by a Missouri qualified fuel ethanol producer, the department of agriculture shall adjust the subsequent monthly grant by paying additional amount or subtracting the amount in deficiency by using the calculation described in this subsection.

4. In order for a Missouri qualified fuel ethanol producer to obtain a grant from the fund for a particular month, an application for such funds shall be received no later than fifteen days prior to the first day of the month for which the grant is sought. The application shall include:

(1) The location of the Missouri qualified fuel ethanol producer;

(2) The average number of citizens of Missouri employed by the Missouri qualified fuel ethanol producer in the preceding quarter, if applicable;

(3) The number of bushels of Missouri agricultural commodities or green weight tons of qualified biomass used by the Missouri qualified fuel ethanol producer in the production of fuel ethanol in the preceding quarter;

(4) The number of gallons of qualified fuel ethanol the producer expects to manufacture during the month for which the grant is applied;

(5) A copy of the qualified fuel ethanol producer license required pursuant to subsection 5 of this section, name and address of surety company, and amount of bond to be posted pursuant to subsection 5 of this section; and

(6) Any other information deemed necessary by the department of agriculture to adequately ensure that such grants shall be made only to Missouri qualified fuel ethanol producers.

5. The director of the department of agriculture, in consultation with the department of revenue and the department of conservation, shall promulgate rules and regulations necessary for the administration of the provisions of this section. The director shall also establish procedures for bonding Missouri qualified fuel ethanol producers. Each Missouri qualified fuel ethanol producer who attempts to obtain moneys pursuant to this section shall be bonded in an amount not to exceed the estimated maximum monthly grant to be issued to such Missouri qualified fuel ethanol producer.

6. Any rule or portion of a rule, as that term is defined in section 536.010, that is created under the authority delegated in this section shall become effective only if it complies with and is subject to all of the provisions of chapter 536 and, if applicable, section 536.028. This section and chapter 536 are nonseverable and if any of the powers vested with the general assembly pursuant to chapter 536 to review, to delay the effective date or to disapprove and annul a rule are subsequently held unconstitutional, then the grant of rulemaking authority and any rule proposed or adopted after August 28, 2002, shall be invalid and void.

7. Notwithstanding any other provision of this section to the contrary, beginning January 1, 2009, through December 31, [2019] 2020, the economic subsidies provided under this section to Missouri qualified fuel ethanol producers of fuel ethanol made from qualified biomass shall only be provided to two qualified fuel ethanol producers and shall not cumulatively exceed seven and one-half million dollars per qualified fuel ethanol producer. Prior to January 1, 2009, and after December 31, [2019] 2020, Missouri qualified fuel ethanol producers of fuel ethanol made from qualified biomass shall be ineligible for economic subsidies under this section."; and

Second Regular Session, 98th GENERAL ASSEMBLY

TWELFTH DAY, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 27, 2016

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

Speaker Richardson in the Chair.

Prayer by Msgr. Robert A. Kurwicki, Chaplain.

Speaking the truth in love, we are to grow up in every way into Him who is the head. (Ephesians 4:15)

Our God of Heaven and Earth, whose spirit dwells in the hearts of all people, make us conscious of Your presence as we bow in prayer before You this wintery morning.

We have been taught to walk along the way of truth and to live the life of love. May truth so triumph in our minds that we may overcome hostilities with high principles and may love so live in our hearts that we may relate positively with our families and our fellow citizens. With truth and charity alive within us, may we devote ourselves, with all our Judges, to the welfare of our beloved House and our great State.

And the House says, "Amen!"

The Pledge of Allegiance to the flag was recited.

The Journal of the eleventh day was approved as printed.

The Doorkeeper announced the approach of the Honorable Patricia Breckenridge, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Missouri. Chief Justice Breckenridge was duly escorted to the House Chamber and to the Speaker's dais, where she delivered the following message to the assembly in Joint Session.

STATE OF THE JUDICIARY
ADDRESS BY
CHIEF JUSTICE PATRICIA BRECKENRIDGE

Thank you, Lieutenant Governor Kinder, Speaker Richardson, President Pro Tem Richard, members of the General Assembly, the executive branch, and the judiciary. It is a privilege to be with you to examine how we can continue our tradition of collaboration and innovation in improving Missouri's courts.

I am proud to be a lifelong Missourian. I was born and raised in Nevada, in Vernon County. I am a product of the public schools of this state, but it almost wasn't so. I began college at the University of Arkansas. During the summer after my freshman year, the young man I was dating convinced me to transfer to the University of Missouri. After I had transferred, he commented that, even if the relationship did not last, at least I would get a better education. I ultimately earned MU degrees in agricultural economics and law. And the young man who convinced me to return to Missouri? His name is Bryan, and we will celebrate our 40th anniversary in May. Bryan, will you please stand?

I am thankful for the values taught to me by my parents - my father, Don Russell, a small-town lawyer with a general practice, and my mother, Barbara Reed, a retired elementary teacher from Springfield. Dad died two years ago, but my mother and my dear aunt, Judy Wood, are here with me today. Thank you, Mom - you are a wonderful mother and role model.

Last week, I began my 35th year as a Missouri judge. I served nine years as a trial judge, 17 on the court of appeals and am in my ninth year on the Supreme Court. When I was appointed by Governor Bond to be the associate circuit judge of Vernon County, I was 28 years old - only four years out of law school. I should have been intimidated under those circumstances, but I wasn't. Some - many, in fact - might say that I didn't know enough to be afraid. But the truth is, as young and inexperienced as I was, I believed I could be a good judge because I cared about the people of Vernon County who brought their problems to court and about the law.

When I joined the judicial system, I found it was filled with principled people who also cared. I was supported and taught by a host of court clerks, attorneys and judges who helped me by sharing their experiences and knowledge. I learned from everyone - even criminal defendants!

Criminal defendants taught me the importance of respect in our court system. I learned when people who appear in court are treated with respect, they, in turn, treat the judge and the court with respect. Experience proved, when defendants understand their rights, the criminal charges against them, and court procedures, they more readily accept even harsh sentences because they believe the process is fair.

Due process and the rule of law make this country unique. Our judicial system is a coequal branch of government where citizens go to peaceably resolve their disputes and to protect their rights. We only have to turn on the television to see the stark contrast with other parts of the world.

Like the legislative and executive branches, courts are accountable to the will of the people - but in a different way. Those branches are designed to be responsive to the current interests and needs of the voters, but courts are held accountable to the will of the people as expressed in the constitution and laws enacted by you and by past members of this body.

Missouri citizens must have faith and trust - that in our courts they will be treated respectfully and fairly and that their cases will be decided impartially according to the law.

Missourians come to court for many reasons - because they have been charged with speeding or armed robbery, their loved one's estate needs to be probated, they can't agree on child support or child custody, or they are business owners trying to get compensated for the products they have sold. To the people involved, their cases are the most important thing in their lives. They remind us that the judicial system's purpose is the fair and impartial resolution of every case.

My colleagues - the judges of the Supreme Court and the other judges and commissioners in Missouri's judicial system - work daily to properly administer justice in courtrooms all around the state. Courts clerks, juvenile officers, prosecutors, defense attorneys, and judges all must respect the law and strive to fulfill the courts' purposes and responsibilities. Some dedicated court staff, judges, and attorneys from our state are with us today. Would you please stand to be recognized?

But as we learned, there are courts in our state that were not true to our system of justice. After Michael Brown's death in Ferguson and the resulting Department of Justice report, the municipal divisions in St. Louis County were thrust into the national spotlight. This focused attention on all our municipal divisions.

When constitutional changes restructured the Missouri judicial system in 1979, freestanding municipal courts became divisions of the circuit court, but they were not fully integrated into the state system. Instead, the law left the selection of judges and staff to the municipalities, which may have caused some court personnel to promote the interests of their municipality over the interests of justice.

The constitution places the municipal divisions under the supervision of the circuit courts. Ultimately, the supervision of all courts rests with the Supreme Court. The issues of the St. Louis County municipal divisions have caused the Supreme Court to reexamine the performance of those supervisory roles.

Municipal courts are, in fact, part of our Missouri circuit courts and as the most frequently used division of our courts they may be the only kind of court most Missourians encounter. Last year, more than 1.4 million municipal cases were disposed - twice as many cases as in all other circuit divisions.

The legislature has taken action in response to the problems demonstrated by events in Ferguson, and I know you are considering additional changes to the law during this session.

The Supreme Court recognizes that the vast majority of our municipal divisions function as they should, but we are committed to restoring trust in all our municipal divisions, and changes have been made:

- There is improved access to information and a uniform fine schedule that eliminates the exorbitant and unauthorized fines and costs assessed in some cities;
- St. Louis County municipal divisions are required to be open to all the public;
- Thousands of warrants have been recalled and cancelled; and
- The Court amended our rules to require municipal judges to consider an indigent defendant's ability to pay any fine and costs imposed.

Despite progress, more remains to be done. The Supreme Court appointed a municipal work group, which has gathered and studied information to identify the most important findings and recommendations for action. We look forward to its report, which is expected to be filed by March 1.

Our municipal divisions are not the only portions of our judicial system that have received recent attention. The Department of Justice released a report last July about the St. Louis County juvenile division. This report raised concerns, including racial disparity in the disposition of cases; insufficient legal representation for juvenile offenders; and questions about the design of our juvenile system.

It might surprise you to know that juvenile courts were our first treatment courts. Created by you 50 years ago, our juvenile system is designed not to be an adversarial system where the parties compete to be winners, but instead, a system where everyone, including the juvenile officer, has one goal - to preserve and promote each child's welfare. Because when the child wins, we all win.

This non-adversarial system has produced good outcomes for Missouri children. And we know the judges and juvenile staff across the state, including St. Louis County, continue to be dedicated to the care and protection of Missouri's children.

But every system can be improved. So we are giving thoughtful consideration to the DOJ's criticisms, as well as to appropriate solutions. In fact, the concerns have already led to one change in our juvenile structure. The Supreme Court adopted a rule that separates the responsibility of the judge who supervises juvenile court personnel from the responsibility of adjudicating juvenile cases.

The DOJ reports claimed there is racial disparity in the handling of cases. Let me be clear - we are committed to ensuring every individual in every case in our system of justice is treated with respect and every case is adjudicated fairly and impartially under the law. Even a perception that justice is contingent on the color of one's skin or the part of the state one comes from should concern us a*ll*, no matter who we are or where we live.

In this vein, the Court is committed to identifying and addressing bias. In October, the Supreme Court established a Commission on Racial and Ethnic Fairness to study the judicial system and the legal profession. The commission is made up of more than 50 attorneys, judges and others representing diverse experiences and viewpoints from across the state.

We expect the commission to examine current practices and make recommendations to help assure fairness, impartiality, equal access and full participation for racial and ethnic minorities in the judicial process and in the practice of law. We look forward to seeing the recommendations for improvement.

The Supreme Court also realizes it is critical for those of us who sit in judgment of others to be aware of any bias, implicit or otherwise, that might unknowingly affect our decisions. To that end, judges of Missouri's court system will receive implicit bias training as part of this year's judicial education programs.

These are current challenges, but we have a proud history of meeting challenges head-on and finding successful solutions.

Many years ago, another challenge was technology. With your support, we met that challenge and embraced technology as part of how courts must do business in the 21st century. Missouri has become a national leader in automated case management and, by June, every judicial circuit will have electronic filing of case documents.

Our innovative Case.net system allows the public to access information in 19 million court cases, and the public does make use of that access! By the end of last year, Case.net averaged 5 million hits per day.

Currently, public access to the actual documents in case files is available only at computer terminals located in our courthouses. But in this computer age, the public and the media have requested greater access. In response, we are working to strike a balance that economically, technically, and legally makes more case information available to the public.

We already are testing an enhancement to Case.net. This feature - called "Track This Case" - allows parties and the public to be notified electronically of activity in a particular case. The pilot began without fanfare approximately two months ago and, already, Case.net users are tracking 13,000 cases. We will continue to test this program until the end of this year.

Innovations like this are possible because of our best asset - our people. The expansion of technology has changed the responsibilities and skill sets of our employees, and we must have a workforce ready to meet the demands of 21st century Missourians. Without such employees, we cannot take full advantage of all technology has to offer.

Our technological innovations also are invaluable in producing data that we use to serve the citizens of Missouri.

For example, by analyzing data from Missouri and around the country, we have learned that unresolved trauma from abuse and neglect makes a child significantly more likely to commit delinquent acts … and that a delinquent child has a considerably higher risk of ending up in prison. The earlier the trauma is identified and treated, the less likely "acting out" progresses to the commission of a crime.

This information has guided efforts to improve the outcomes of children in Missouri. The courts, in collaboration with the Department of Social Services and the Department of Mental Health, have been piloting multiple programs like Fostering Court Improvement, the Juvenile Detention Alternatives Initiative and the Crossover Youth model. These programs improve safety and permanency outcomes for children in foster care, reduce detention of children, and prevent children from crossing over from the child welfare system into the juvenile justice system.

Kids-at-risk is an issue deeply personal to me. When I was on the court of appeals, I volunteered to mentor at Operation Breakthrough, an inner-city day care. Little did I know that volunteering would lead to an 18-year relationship with four sisters. I learned firsthand from "my girls" the impact of having a mother in prison and a dad whose energy was spent just trying to provide. They continue to be a big part of my life: Denise, now a hardworking mother with a full-time job; Danisha, now in college; and Mae, also a college student, who cannot be here today because being introduced during the state of the judiciary apparently does not constitute an excused absence! I am proud to introduce Denise and Danisha to you today, along with another dedicated mentor, Penni Johnson. I wish Deitra - the fourth sister - were with us, but tragically she's made some bad choices and is currently incarcerated.

I greatly appreciate the work of legislators who are also passionate about protecting the children of Missouri. Your joint committee on child abuse and neglect, currently led by Representative Bill Lant and Senator Bob Dixon, is a wonderful example of how - when we work together - we can make a difference in the lives of Missourians.

Another example of successful collaboration between us is our treatment court model. Missouri is a national leader in treatment courts. As you know, our adult, juvenile and family drug courts change the trajectory of lives from addiction and crime to being productive citizens, while saving money by reducing the prison population. Working together, we expanded the drug court model to DWI courts, mental health courts and veterans courts. If you have not attended a treatment court graduation, I encourage you to do so. But bring your hanky. The life experiences of the graduates are moving.

Let me tell you about Patricia Sams. She is a generational alcoholic from Stone County who assumed the cycle of drinking and incarceration was her destiny. Despite having spent nearly four years incarcerated, she continued to drink and drive and once again found herself in front of a judge charged with DWI - her eighth. But this time it was different …. This time, Judge Alan Blankenship offered her the opportunity to be one of the first participants in the new Stone County DWI court. She went through rehab, learned how to stop her cycle of addiction, and has not had a drink since April 2010. Patricia became Stone County's first DWI graduate, and now is part of its treatment court team. Patricia, will you and Judge Blankenship please rise and be recognized for your achievements?

Patricia's story is just one of many. Missouri has more than 16,000 treatment court graduates and more than 4,000 current participants. But this is not the end of the story. We have more to do. We know treatment courts work, but they aren't available to everyone who could benefit from them.

I am pleased to announce today that, once again, we are collaborating. Speaker Richardson has asked the Supreme Court to work with him and other members of this chamber to identify best practices and explore expanding the availability of treatment courts. Together, we can change more lives in Missouri.

Although there may be challenges in some areas of the court system, we can be proud of the outstanding work that is done in the vast majority of our Missouri courts.

We should be especially proud of the level of cooperation and communication between the legislature and the judiciary. Our work together in the areas of treatment and juvenile courts and technology should be a standard for our interactions every day. Let's continue to make our Missouri courts even better.

Thank you.

JOURNAL OF THE HOUSE

Second Regular Session, 98th GENERAL ASSEMBLY

THIRTEENTH DAY, THURSDAY, JANUARY 28, 2016

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

Speaker Richardson in the Chair.

Prayer by Msgr. Robert A. Kurwicki, Chaplain.

In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth. (Genesis 1:1)

Almighty God, Creator and Sustainer of this wonderful universe in which we live, hour after hour You are speaking to us and day after day You are seeking to lead us to heaven. Help us to hear and to heed Your word and to so respond to the leading of Your spirit that the paths to peace may become plain and the ways of working together for freedom and justice may be clearly known to us.

In this knowledge and by this faith may we lead Missouri to deeper depths of devotion, to higher heights of honesty, and to greater goals of genuine good for the children of the men and women we represent.

Bless us as we begin this weekend, give us safe travels, and allow us to return here next week both rested and renewed.

And the House says, "Amen!"

The Pledge of Allegiance to the flag was recited.

The Journal of the twelfth day was approved as printed.

JOURNAL OF THE HOUSE

Second Regular Session, 98th GENERAL ASSEMBLY

FOURTEENTH DAY, MONDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 2016

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

Speaker Richardson in the Chair.

Prayer by Representative Sue Entlicher.

Psalms 107 says, "Some of us wandered for years in the desert looking but not finding a good place to live. Half-starved and parched with thirst, staggering and stumbling on the brink of exhaustion. Then, in our desperate condition, we called out to God and He got us out in the nick of time. He put our feet on a wonderful road that took us to a good place to live. So thank God for His marvelous love and for His miracle mercy to the children He loves."

So Heavenly Father today when Your children go through the valley or have difficulties or if we are on the mountain top, help us to take every opportunity to give a praise to You the Heavenly Father above. Sweep over our souls today with Heavenly billows of love and kindness and goodness and patience and faithfulness and gentleness and self-control.

And in Your name we pray.

Amen.

The Pledge of Allegiance to the flag was recited.

The Journal of the thirteenth day was approved as printed by the following vote:

JOURNAL OF THE HOUSE

Second Regular Session, 98th GENERAL ASSEMBLY

FIFTEENTH DAY, TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 2016

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

Speaker Richardson in the Chair.

Prayer by Msgr. Robert A. Kurwicki, Chaplain.

Be ye steadfast, unmovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labor is not in vain in the Lord. (I Corinthians 15:58)

Almighty God, Lord of all creation, who during the trials and triumphs of difficult times has set eternity in our hearts, we turn to You at the beginning of another week knowing that without You all our labor is in vain.

Give to us, the leaders of Your people, a true love for the welfare of our State, an outreaching concern for the well-being of all our citizens, and faith in You which opens for us the unfailing resources of respect which, bridges the differences which separate us, and makes us one in glory!

We thank You for brave men and women who served here before us in this Chamber and who by courage and faith have brought Missouri to the place of leadership among the states. Help us to honor our heritage by walking the ways of liberty and law. Give value to our words, courage to our hearts, and strength to our hands as we strive to make unity bright and beautiful in the light of our love.

And the House says, "Amen!"

The Pledge of Allegiance to the flag was recited.

The Journal of the fourteenth day was approved as printed by the following vote:

JOURNAL OF THE HOUSE

Second Regular Session, 98th GENERAL ASSEMBLY

SIXTEENTH DAY, WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 2016

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

Speaker Richardson in the Chair.

Prayer by Msgr. Robert A. Kurwicki, Chaplain.

Fear the Lord and serve Him faithfully with all your heart; for consider what great things He has done for you. (I Samuel 12:24)

O Lord, grant unto us the power to love You with all our minds, with all our hearts, with all our strength, and our neighbors as ourselves, so that the grace of a strong love may dwell in us, that all harshness and resentments may die and our hearts be filled with compassion and love. Therefore may we rejoice in the happiness and success of others by sympathizing with them in their sorrows, by ministering to them in their needs, and by helping them in their efforts for a greater life with dignity and self-respect in our Show-Me State.

Forever keep before us the shining goal of a greater Missouri and a better House of Representatives seeking the ways to peace and the road to freedom for all during this Black History Month.

And the House says, "Amen!"

The Pledge of Allegiance to the flag was recited.

The Journal of the fifteenth day was approved as printed.

JOURNAL OF THE HOUSE

Second Regular Session, 98th GENERAL ASSEMBLY

SEVENTEENTH DAY, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 2016

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

Speaker Richardson in the Chair.

Prayer by Msgr. Robert A. Kurwicki, Chaplain.

The Spirit of the Lord is upon me. (Luke 4:18)

Eternal God, our loving creator, we come to You at this moment of prayer humbly and gratefully for in You is the answer to all our questions, the solution to all our problems, and the goal of all our noblest endeavors.

May it be our aim, as we gather daily in this historic Chamber, to meet the needs of struggling humanity, to strengthen the ties that unite us together, and to find the way to peace among the important interests of our State.

God bless Missouri. Unite our people in safeguarding our liberties, in defending our institutions, and in supporting all citizens everywhere who live and support freedom.

May we realize more than ever that Your spirit must touch and transform our own spirits if we are to continue to be with You because You alone are the life, light and the law of mercy.

And the House says, "Amen!"

JOURNAL OF THE HOUSE

Second Regular Session, 98th GENERAL ASSEMBLY

EIGHTEENTH DAY, MONDAY, FEBRUARY 8, 2016

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

Speaker Richardson in the Chair.

Prayer by Representative Kenneth Wilson.

Father, may this brief moment be more than a custom, may it be a real experience for each one in this place as we call upon Your Holy Name for guidance and help. As our heads are bowed in prayer, may our hearts be open to Your Holy Spirit.

Father You know our nature and You know our secret thoughts, and we can hide nothing from You. Help us Father, to set aside every disguise we wear and help us to find peace in being what we are and nothing else. Help us to set aside all pretense, that we can live a life of freedom and sincerity.

Father, help us to know that it is not dangerous to be honest, we pray for courage that each can be true to their self and we pray for Your help that each one of us may be the best that we can be as we serve the citizens of this great state and as we stay faithful in our service to You.

This I pray in the name of Him who died for us all.

And the House says, "Amen."

The Pledge of Allegiance to the flag was recited.

The Speaker appointed the following to act as an Honorary Page for the Day, to serve without compensation: Annie Mills.

The Journal of the seventeenth day was approved as printed by the following vote:

JOURNAL OF THE HOUSE

Second Regular Session, 98th GENERAL ASSEMBLY

NINETEENTH DAY, TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 9, 2016

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

Speaker Richardson in the Chair.

Prayer by Msgr. Robert A. Kurwicki, Chaplain.

He that handleth a matter wisely shall find good; and who so trusteth in the Lord, happy is he. (Proverbs 16:20)

Almighty and Everlasting God, who is always more eager to listen than we are to pray, who is willing to give more than we desire or deserve, pour out upon us an abundance of Your mercies, cleansing us, forgiving us, and empowering us to do what is right and proper for our citizens and our state.

Grant that what we say with our lips we may believe in our hearts and what we believe in our hearts we may practice with our lives, that in deed and in truth we may be doers of the word and not hearers only. In Your powerful and eternal light may we see life clearly, and in Your straight path may we not stumble or fall on this Mardi Gras.

And the House says, "Amen!"

The Pledge of Allegiance to the flag was recited.

The Speaker appointed the following to act as Honorary Pages for the Day, to serve without compensation: Emily Bauwens and Maleah Ahuja.

The Journal of the eighteenth day was approved as printed by the following vote:

JOURNAL OF THE HOUSE

Second Regular Session, 98th GENERAL ASSEMBLY

TWENTIETH DAY, WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 2016

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

Speaker Richardson in the Chair.

Prayer by Msgr. Robert A. Kurwicki, Chaplain.

I have strength for anything through Him who gives me power. (Philippians 4:13)

In Your presence, we pause for a brief moment on this Ash Wednesday, lifting our hearts unto You in morning prayer. As we pray, our strength is renewed, our courage restored, and our path is made clear. What we felt we could not do, now we can do; what we thought hopeless, is now full of hope; what seemed impossible, now becomes possible. We are ready for anything that comes our way today through the strength of Your spirit living in our hearts.

Bless our wonderful State with Your favor and make her a channel for peace, reconciliation and justice in the minds and hearts of all our people, not just a few who support us, but all who desire the gifts of eternal joys in Your Kingdom of Mercy.

And the House says, "Amen!"

The Pledge of Allegiance to the flag was recited.

2. For all tax years beginning on or after January 1, 2017, any small business shall be allowed to claim any tax credit, tax deduction, and any other exemption from tax that any corporation as defined in chapter 143 in this state is allowed to claim under state law. (3) This section shall terminate on September first of the calendar year immediately following the calendar year in which the program authorized under this section is sunset. The termination of the program as described in this subsection shall not be construed to preclude any taxpayer who claims any benefit under any program that is sunset under this subsection from claiming such benefit for all allowable activities related to such claim that were completed before the program was sunset, or to eliminate any responsibility of the administering agency to verify the continued eligibility of projects receiving tax credits and to enforce other requirements of law that applied before the program was sunset."; and

(1) "Adverse action", [a denial, nonrenewal of, or a reduction in the amount of benefits payable or types of coverages under any contract, existing or applied for, in connection with the underwriting of insurance. An offer by an insurer to write a contract through an affiliated insurer does not constitute an adverse action] the same meaning as defined in the Fair Credit Reporting Act, 15 U.S.C. Section 1681, et. seq. Adverse actions include, but are not limited to:

(a) Cancellation, denial, or nonrenewal of personal insurance coverage;

(b) Charging a higher insurance premium for personal insurance than would have been offered if the credit history or insurance credit score had been more favorable, whether the charge is by application of a rating rule, assignment to a rating tier that does not have the lowest available rates, or placement with an affiliate company that does not offer the lowest rates available to the consumer within the affiliate group of insurance companies; or

(c) Any reduction or adverse or unfavorable change in the terms of coverage or amount of any personal insurance due to a consumer's credit history or insurance credit score. A reduction or adverse or unfavorable change in the terms of coverage occurs when either the coverage provided to the consumer is not as broad in scope as coverage requested by the consumer but is available to other insureds of the insurer or any affiliate, or the consumer is not eligible for benefits such as dividends that are available through affiliated insurers;

(2) "Contract", any [automobile] insurance policy [as defined in section 379.110, or any property insurance policy as defined in section 375.001, including such a policy on a mobile home or residential condominium unit or a policy of renters' or tenants' insurance. (4) "Credit report", any written or electronic communication of any information by a consumer reporting agency that:

(a) Bears on a person's credit worthiness, credit standing, or credit capacity; and

(b) Is used or collected wholly or partly to serve as a factor in the underwriting of a contract;

[(4)] (5) "Credit scoring entity", any entity that is involved in creating, compiling, or providing insurance credit scores;

[(5)] (6) "Insurance credit score", a rating or numerical representation [of the insurance risk a person presents using the person's attributes derived from a] derived by using a formula, algorithm, computer application, model, or other process that is based, in whole or in part, on the credit report or credit information [in a formula to assess insurance risk on an actuarial or statistical basis] of an applicant;

[(6)] (7) "Insurer", any insurance company or entity that offers a contract;

[(7)] (8) "Underwriting", the selection of the risk that will be assumed by the insurer on a contract, and specifically the decision whether to accept, deny, renew, nonrenew, reduce, or increase the amount of benefits payable, premium rate for coverage, or types of coverages under the contract.

2. An insurer using a credit report or insurance credit score as a factor in underwriting shall not take an adverse action against a new applicant based on such factor without consideration of another noncredit-related underwriting factor.

3. No insurer shall take an adverse action against [an] a new applicant [or insured] based on inability to compute an insurance credit score without consideration of another underwriting factor, unless the insurer can justify the credibility that the lack of an insurance credit score has in underwriting to the director of the department of insurance, financial institutions and professional registration.

4. An insurer using a credit report or insurance credit score as a factor in underwriting a contract for a new applicant shall disclose at the time of the original application for the contract or on the application itself that the insurer may gather credit information.

5. An insurer using a credit report or insurance credit score as a factor in underwriting of a contract for a new applicant shall not take an adverse action on such contract based on information that is the subject of a written dispute between the [policyholder or] applicant and a consumer reporting agency, as noted in such person's credit report, until such dispute has reached final determination in accordance with the federal Fair Credit Reporting Act, 15 U.S.C. Section 1681, et seq. In the event that information is the subject of a written dispute under this subsection, the sixty-day period provided by section 375.002 or section 379.110, shall be extended until fifteen days after the dispute reaches final determination. Nothing in this subsection shall be construed to require any consumer reporting agency, as defined by the federal Fair Credit Reporting Act, 15 U.S.C. Section 1681, et seq., to include any information on a credit report beyond the extent required by the federal Fair Credit Reporting Act, 15 U.S.C. Section 1681, et seq.

6. If the use of a credit report or insurance credit score on a contract results in an adverse action against a new applicant, the insurer shall provide the [policyholder or] applicant:

(1) Notice that a credit report or insurance credit score adversely affected the underwriting of the contract;

(2) The name, address, and telephone number of the consumer credit reporting agency that furnished the credit information, in compliance with the notice requirements of the federal Fair Credit Reporting Act, 15 U.S.C. Section 1681, et seq.;

(3) Notice of the right to obtain a free credit report from the consumer credit reporting agency within sixty days; and

(4) Notice of the right to lodge a dispute with the consumer credit reporting agency to have any erroneous information corrected in accordance with the federal Fair Credit Reporting Act, 15 U.S.C. Section 1681, et seq.

7. Within thirty days from the date the insurer provides notice of an adverse action pursuant to subdivision (1) of subsection 6 of this section, the new applicant [or insured] may in writing request from the insurer a statement of reasons for such action. For purposes of determining the thirty-day period, the notice of an adverse action is deemed received three days after mailing. The statement of reasons shall be sufficiently clear and specific so that a person of average intelligence can identify the basis for the insurer's decision without further inquiry. An insurer may provide an explanation of significant characteristics of the credit history that may have impacted such person's insurance credit score to meet the requirements of this subsection. Standardized credit explanations provided by credit scoring entities comply with this subsection.

8. If an insurer bases an adverse action in part on a credit report or insurance credit score, the new applicant [or insured] may within thirty days of such adverse action make a written request for reunderwriting following any correction relating to the credit report or insurance credit score.

9. An insurer may obtain and use a current credit report or insurance credit score on new business [or renewal] contracts, but shall not take an adverse action with respect to renewal contracts based upon such credit report or insurance credit score [until or after the third anniversary date of the initial contract].

10. Insurance inquiries shall not directly or indirectly be used as a negative factor in any insurance credit scoring formula or in the use of a credit report in underwriting.

11. Nothing in this section shall be construed as superceding the provisions of section 375.002 and section 379.114. Nothing in this section shall be construed as prohibiting any insurer from using credit information in determining whether to offer a policyholder or applicant the option to finance or establish a payment plan for the payment of any premium for a contract. Nothing in this section shall apply to any entity not acting as an insurer or credit scoring entity as defined in subsection 1 of this section.

12. No credit scoring entity shall provide or sell to any party, other than the insurer, its insurance company affiliates or holding companies, and the producer from whom the inquiry was generated, data or lists that include any information that in whole or in part is submitted in conjunction with credit inquiries about consumers. Such information includes, but is not limited to, expiration dates, information that may identify time periods during which a consumer's insurance may expire, or other nonpublic personal information as defined under the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act, 15 U.S.C. Sections 6801 to 6809. The provisions of this subsection shall not preclude the exchange of information specifically authorized under the federal Fair Credit Reporting Act, 15 U.S.C. Section 1681, et seq., the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act, 15 U.S.C. Sections 6801 to 6809 and other applicable federal law. The provisions of this subsection shall not apply to data disclosed in connection with a proposed or actual sale, merger, transfer or exchange of all or a portion of an insurer's or producer's business or operating unit, including but not limited to, the sale of a portfolio of contracts, if such disclosure concerns solely consumers of the business or unit and such disclosure is not the primary reason for the sale, merger, transfer or exchange.

13. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, no insurer shall use a credit report or insurance credit score as a factor in underwriting or take any adverse action based on a credit report or insurance credit score against a person currently insured under an existing insurance contract with the insurer.

14. A violation of this section may be enforceable under section 374.280.

[14.] 15. The provisions of this section shall apply to all contracts entered into on or after [July 1, 2003] January 1, 2017."; and

JOURNAL OF THE HOUSE

Second Regular Session, 98th GENERAL ASSEMBLY

TWENTY-FIRST DAY, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 2016

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

Speaker Richardson in the Chair.

Prayer by Msgr. Robert A. Kurwicki, Chaplain.

Our sufficiency is from God. (II Corinthians 3:5)

Eternal Lord of our hearts, whose grace makes us sufficient for every task and whose strength holds us steady as we live through troubled moments, speak Your words to us this day and make Your will known that we may now and always walk along the paths of righteousness, justice and love in the People's House.

Powerfully unite us that we may continue to seek the release of the captives of distrust, give light to those who sit in darkness of hatred, bridge the gulf, which separates our people, and support every endeavor, which creates and maintains understanding and good will in the life of our beloved Missouri on this St. Valentine's weekend.

And the House says, "Amen!"

The Pledge of Allegiance to the flag was recited.

The Speaker appointed the following to act as Honorary Pages for the Day, to serve without compensation: Anne Prince, Camryn Scheets, Chandra Hubbs, Renae Clark, Sydney Kidwell, Jonathan Shiflett, and Carissa Gooch.

The Journal of the twentieth day was approved as printed.

No contract or order in excess of ten thousand dollars imposing any financial obligation on the county or township is binding on the county or township unless it is in writing and unless there is a balance otherwise unencumbered to the credit of the appropriation to which it is to be charged and a cash balance otherwise unencumbered in the treasury to the credit of the fund from which payment is to be made, each sufficient to meet the obligation incurred and unless the contract or order in excess of ten thousand dollars bears the certification of the accounting officer so stating; except that in case of any contract for public works or buildings to be paid for from bond funds or from taxes levied for the purpose it is sufficient for the accounting officer to certify that the bonds or taxes have been authorized by vote of the people and that there is a sufficient unencumbered amount of the bonds yet to be sold or of the taxes levied and yet to be collected to meet the obligation in case there is not a sufficient unencumbered cash balance in the treasury. All contracts and purchases shall be let to the lowest and best bidder after due opportunity for competition, including advertising the proposed letting in a newspaper in the county or township with a circulation of at least five hundred copies per issue, if there is one, except that the advertising is not required in case of contracts or purchases involving an expenditure of less than [six] ten thousand dollars. In case of such contract, no financial obligation accrues against the county or township until the supplies, materials, equipment or services other than personal are so ordered and the certificate furnished.

(2) Based on past procurement experience, it is determined that only one distributor services the region in which the supplies are needed; or

(3) Supplies are available at a discount from a single distributor for a limited period of time.

2. On any single feasible source purchase where the estimated expenditure is [three] more than five thousand dollars but less than ten thousand dollars [or over], the commission shall post notice of the proposed purchase. Where the estimated expenditure is [five] ten thousand dollars or over, the commission shall also advertise the commission's intent to make such purchase in at least one daily and one weekly newspaper of general circulation in such places as are most likely to reach prospective bidders or offerors and may provide such information through an electronic medium available to the general public at least ten days before the contract is to be let.

3. Notwithstanding subsection 2 of this section to the contrary, on any single feasible service purchase by any county of the first classification with more than one hundred fifty thousand but fewer than two hundred thousand inhabitants or any county of the first classification with more than two hundred sixty thousand but fewer than three hundred thousand inhabitants where the estimated expenditure is six thousand dollars or over, the commission shall post notice of the proposed purchase and advertise the commission's intent to make such purchase in at least one daily and one weekly newspaper of general circulation in such places as are most likely to reach prospective bidders or offerors and may provide such information through an electronic medium available to the general public at least ten days before the contract is to be let.

50.790. It shall hereafter be unlawful for the commissioners of the county commission of any county of this state to which sections 50.760 to 50.790 apply to draw, or authorize the drawing of, any check or county warrant, or other order for the payment of money for any supplies for any county officer for which an order or requisition has not first been obtained as in sections 50.760 to 50.790 required. Whosoever shall violate the provisions of this law shall be deemed guilty of [a misdemeanor] an infraction and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not [less than fifty dollars nor more than one thousand] more than one hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail for a term of not less than thirty days nor more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment; provided, that if any such commissioner shall be absent at the time, or shall cause his protest against such action to be entered in the minutes of the commission, when any violation of this law is ordered by the other commissioners of such commission, he shall not be deemed to have violated the provisions of this law.

55.161. In addition to all other duties imposed upon the county auditor in counties of the first class not having a charter form of government and in counties of the second class, [he] the auditor shall have the following duties:

(1) He or she shall audit, examine and adjust all accounts of county officials and courts operating in such counties where there is an accumulation of moneys, taxes, fees, fines and miscellaneous public funds received from any and all sources by county officials and courts operating in such counties, and which are accumulated and intended for public purposes other than the general administrative functions of the county, provided that such extra duty of accounting is to be performed in the same manner as is now by statute prescribed for the general county administrative business. He or she shall also audit moneys and funds belonging to any levee district organized and operating in such county, moneys to be disbursed to school districts organized and operating in such county, and moneys to be disbursed in the county for library, hospital, recreation, public health and civil defense purposes;

(2) He or she shall prepare a statement of the estimated revenues of the county, classified as to funds and sources, and shall furnish the budget officer of the county with an itemized list of county expenditures for as many previous fiscal years as may be deemed proper for enabling the budget officer to arrive at a reasonable estimate of the anticipated revenues and the necessary expenses of the county in the preparation of the county budget;

(3) [He shall countersign, on behalf of the county, all licenses issued for the sale of intoxicating liquor and shall keep in a readily accessible form a record of all such county licenses issued; and

(4)] In counties of the second [class] classification only, he or she shall serve as a member of the county board of equalization.

64.875. The regulations imposed and the districts created under authority of sections 64.845 to 64.880 may be amended from time to time by the county commission by order after the order establishing the same has gone into effect but no amendments shall be made by the county commission except after recommendation of the county planning commission, or if there be no county planning commission, of the county zoning commission, after hearings thereon by the county commission. Public notice of the hearings shall be given in the same manner as provided for the hearing in section 64.815. In case of written protest against any proposed change or amendment, signed and acknowledged by the owners of thirty percent of the frontage within one thousand feet to the right or left of the frontage proposed to be changed, or by the owners of thirty percent of the frontage directly opposite, or directly in the rear of the frontage proposed to be altered, or in cases where the land affected lies within one and one-half miles of the corporate limits of a municipality having in effect ordinances zoning property within the corporate limits of a municipality, made by resolution of the city council or board of trustees thereof, and filed with the county clerk, the amendment may not be passed except by the favorable vote of two-thirds of all the members of the county commission.

139.031. 1. Any taxpayer may protest all or any part of any current taxes assessed against the taxpayer, except taxes collected by the director of revenue of Missouri. Any such taxpayer desiring to pay any current taxes under protest or while paying taxes based upon a disputed assessment shall, at the time of paying such taxes, make full payment of the current tax bill before the delinquency date and file with the collector a written statement setting forth the grounds on which the protest is based. The statement shall include the true value in money claimed by the taxpayer if disputed. An appeal before the state tax commission shall not be dismissed on the grounds that a taxpayer failed to file a written statement when paying taxes based upon a disputed assessment.

2. Upon receiving payment of current taxes under protest pursuant to subsection 1 of this section or upon receiving from the state tax commission or the circuit court notice of an appeal from the state tax commission or the circuit court pursuant to section 138.430, along with full payment of the current tax bill before the delinquency date, the collector shall disburse to the proper official all portions of taxes not protested or not disputed by the taxpayer and shall impound in a separate fund all portions of such taxes which are protested or in dispute. Every taxpayer protesting the payment of current taxes under subsection 1 of this section shall, within ninety days after filing his protest, commence an action against the collector by filing a petition for the recovery of the amount protested in the circuit court of the county in which the collector maintains his office. If any taxpayer so protesting his taxes under subsection 1 of this section shall fail to commence an action in the circuit court for the recovery of the taxes protested within the time prescribed in this subsection, such protest shall become null and void and of no effect, and the collector shall then disburse to the proper official the taxes impounded, and any interest earned thereon, as provided above in this subsection.

3. No action against the collector shall be commenced by any taxpayer who has, effective for the current tax year, filed with the state tax commission or the circuit court a timely and proper appeal of the assessment of the taxpayer's property. The portion of taxes in dispute from an appeal of an assessment shall be impounded in a separate fund and the commission in its decision and order issued pursuant to chapter 138 or the circuit court in its judgment may order all or any part of such taxes refunded to the taxpayer, or may authorize the collector to release and disburse all or any part of such taxes.

4. Trial of the action for recovery of taxes protested under subsection 1 of this section in the circuit court shall be in the manner prescribed for nonjury civil proceedings, and, after determination of the issues, the court shall make such orders as may be just and equitable to refund to the taxpayer all or any part of the current taxes paid under protest, together with any interest earned thereon, or to authorize the collector to release and disburse all or any part of the impounded taxes, and any interest earned thereon, to the appropriate officials of the taxing authorities. Either party to the proceedings may appeal the determination of the circuit court.

5. All the county collectors of taxes, and the collector of taxes in any city not within a county, shall, upon written application of a taxpayer, refund or credit against the taxpayer's tax liability in the following taxable year and subsequent consecutive taxable years until the taxpayer has received credit in full for any real or personal property tax mistakenly or erroneously levied against the taxpayer and collected in whole or in part by the collector. Such application shall be filed within three years after the tax is mistakenly or erroneously paid. The governing body, or other appropriate body or official of the county or city not within a county, shall make available to the collector funds necessary to make refunds under this subsection by issuing warrants upon the fund to which the mistaken or erroneous payment has been credited, or otherwise. No refund or credit shall be issued by any county collector or any collector of taxes in any city not within a county unless a determination has first been made by the applicable county commission, board of equalization, or court of competent jurisdiction that the taxes in question were erroneously or mistakenly paid.

6. No taxpayer shall receive any interest on any money paid in by the taxpayer erroneously.

7. All protested taxes impounded under protest under subsection 1 of this section and all disputed taxes impounded under notice as required by section 138.430 shall be invested by the collector in the same manner as assets specified in section 30.260 for investment of state moneys. A taxpayer who is entitled to a refund of protested or disputed taxes shall also receive the interest earned on the investment thereof. If the collector is ordered to release and disburse all or part of the taxes paid under protest or dispute to the proper official, such taxes shall be disbursed along with the proportional amount of interest earned on the investment of the taxes due the particular taxing authority.

8. Any taxing authority may request to be notified by the county collector of current taxes paid under protest. Such request shall be in writing and submitted on or before February first next following the delinquent date of current taxes paid under protest or disputed, and the county collector shall provide such information on or before March first of the same year to the requesting taxing authority of the taxes paid under protest and disputed taxes which would be received by such taxing authority if the funds were not the subject of a protest or dispute. Any taxing authority may apply to the circuit court of the county or city not within a county in which a collector has impounded protested or disputed taxes under this section and, upon a satisfactory showing that such taxing authority would receive such impounded tax funds if they were not the subject of a protest or dispute and that such taxing authority has the financial ability and legal capacity to repay such impounded tax funds in the event a decision ordering a refund to the taxpayer is subsequently made, the circuit court shall order, pendente lite, the disbursal of all or any part of such impounded tax funds to such taxing authority. The circuit court issuing an order under this subsection shall retain jurisdiction of such matter for further proceedings, if any, to compel restitution of such tax funds to the taxpayer. In the event that any protested or disputed tax funds refunded to a taxpayer were disbursed to a taxing authority under this subsection instead of being held and invested by the collector under subsection 7 of this section, such taxing authority shall pay the taxpayer entitled to the refund of such protested or disputed taxes the same amount of interest, as determined by the circuit court having jurisdiction in the matter, such protested or disputed taxes would have earned if they had been held and invested by the collector.

9. No appeal filed from the circuit court's or state tax commission's determination pertaining to the amount of refund shall stay any order of refund, but the decision filed by any court of last review modifying that determination shall be binding on the parties, and the decision rendered shall be complied with by the party affected by any modification within ninety days of the date of such decision. No taxpayer shall receive any interest on any additional award of refund, and the collector shall not receive any interest on any ordered return of refund in whole or in part."; and

Second Regular Session, 98th GENERAL ASSEMBLY

TWENTY-SECOND DAY, MONDAY, FEBRUARY 15, 2016

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

Speaker Richardson in the Chair.

Prayer by Representative Kevin Corlew.

God of all creation, who was, and is, and is to come:

We pause at the beginning of our work today to extol You and to give thanks. We are grateful for the many blessings You have graciously bestowed upon our Nation, our State, our citizens, and our families.

We ask for Your continued blessing and for Your hand of providence to be upon the great State of Missouri and her citizens.

We are grateful that we have the opportunity to serve in this legislative capacity. And as we embark on our legislative week, we humbly ask for Your wisdom and guidance in dealing with the many issues presently before us.

We ask that we would be used as instruments of peace, goodwill, and justice. May we do justly, love mercy, and walk humbly with You, our provider.

While we are busy with our work in this Legislature, we also ask that for Your wisdom and guidance to be granted to other leaders, branches, and departments of government.

We pray for the peace and prosperity of our communities. May Your presence and protection be with our loved ones. And we pray for You to uplift and encourage our military personnel and their families.

Now, as we begin our work together, may we enjoy good fellowship in this House and extend respect and goodwill to one another.

Let the words of our mouths and the meditations of our hearts be pleasing in Your sight, our Lord, our Rock and our Redeemer.

And the House says, "Amen!"

The Pledge of Allegiance to the flag was recited.

The Speaker appointed the following to act as Honorary Pages for the Day, to serve without compensation: Connor Earleywine, Duran Earleywine, Alannah Tapley, Alyssa Johnson, Abigail Maiden, Rylee White, Chloe Layton, and Jeannette Cruz.

JOURNAL OF THE HOUSE

Second Regular Session, 98th GENERAL ASSEMBLY

TWENTY-THIRD DAY, TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 16, 2016

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

Speaker Richardson in the Chair.

Prayer by Msgr. Robert A. Kurwicki, Chaplain.

This I command you, that you love one another. (John 15:17)

Dear God, we pray for every effort which is being made for justice and honesty, for unity and cooperation in our House and throughout the State of Missouri.

Breathe Your spirit into every human heart that we might learn to live together in love, with understanding, for the benefit of all Your creatures. Keep us healthy and alert to our needs as well as those of our spouses, families, and staff.

Bless our Speaker, the Members of this House of Representatives, and all who labor under the dome of this glorious Capitol. Preserve their patience, give them wisdom, broaden their vision, and guide their aspirations that together we may seek the good of all citizens.

And the House says, "Amen!"

The Pledge of Allegiance to the flag was recited.

The Speaker appointed the following to act as Honorary Pages for the Day, to serve without compensation: Joseph Lydon, Aidan Loeffelman, and Sean Forrester.

JOURNAL OF THE HOUSE

Second Regular Session, 98th GENERAL ASSEMBLY

TWENTY-FOURTH DAY, WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 2016

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

Speaker Richardson in the Chair.

Prayer by Msgr. Robert A. Kurwicki, Chaplain.

And the Lord went before them by day in a pillar of cloud to lead them along the way, and by night in a pillar of fire to give them light. (Exodus 13:21)

O Powerful God, Our Creator, in generation after generation we have sought You and have found that Your faithfulness never fails, Your love never falters, and Your strength never fades. Our predecessors in this Chamber walked by the guidance of Your spirit in victory and rested in Your mercy in defeat, so to us, their successors, be a pillar of cloud by day and a pillar of fire by night to give us light upon our way, strength to walk along it, and peace in our hearts as You did in ancient times. We struggle at times to understand Your will so give us wisdom as You gave Solomon.

Remove the veil from every heart and unite us as we walk together toward the promised land of heaven where we shall dwell together in peace and joy forever and ever.

And the House says, "Amen!"

The Pledge of Allegiance to the flag was recited.

JOURNAL OF THE HOUSE

Second Regular Session, 98th GENERAL ASSEMBLY

TWENTY-FIFTH DAY, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 18, 2016

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

Speaker Richardson in the Chair.

Prayer by Msgr. Robert A. Kurwicki, Chaplain.

My brethren, be strong in the Lord and in the power of his might. (Ephesians 6:10)

O Ancient God, amid the stress of a tough day yesterday and a busy morning now may we keep within our hearts a calm and quiet place where You dwell, where Your power strengthens us, Your wisdom makes us wise, and Your goodness keeps us pure.

At times we may be tempted to be bitter, insensitive or petty so help us to silently lift our hearts unto You in prayer. Then alive with Your spirit may we face our daily tasks with courage, faith and hope. We will then become a source of pride to our citizens and this Chamber.

Bless our State. Make her faithful in her devotion to truth, great in her desire for honor, strong in her willingness to serve, and wise in her dealings with others. By doing Your will may we bring prosperity to our State and peace to our hearts.

And the House says, "Amen!"

The Pledge of Allegiance to the flag was recited.

The Journal of the twenty-fourth day was approved as printed.

4. Nothing in this section shall be construed to require multiple votes to obtain authorization to provide a competitive service and authorization regarding fiscal issues. JOURNAL OF THE HOUSE

Second Regular Session, 98th GENERAL ASSEMBLY

TWENTY-SIXTH DAY, MONDAY, FEBRUARY 22, 2016

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

Speaker Pro Tem Hoskins in the Chair.

Prayer by Representative Kirk Mathews.

Oh Great God and Loving Heavenly Father, today we acknowledge You as Sovereign God and Marvelous Creator of everything in Heaven and Earth. We praise You and thank You for the wonderful work of Your hands in the beauty we enjoy in our great State. Let us be ever mindful of Your rightful place as Lord of our lives because far too often You are just an after-thought or at best, a Sunday ritual.

Father God, Your word reminds us that we all have sinned and fallen short of Your glory. God, some of our sins are public, but most are not. Lord, help us to remember that in Your eyes, they are all sins, whether or not they reach the public's eye. And as we realize our need for forgiveness, may we likewise be quick to forgive.

Lord, Your Son told us the two greatest commandments are to love You with all our heart, soul and mind… and to love our neighbor as ourselves. May our work today and every day, in this, the people's house reflect those two great commandments.

And the House says, "Amen."

The Pledge of Allegiance to the flag was recited.

The Speaker appointed the following to act as Honorary Pages for the Day, to serve without compensation: Trent Bernskoetter, Julia Bernskoetter, John Bernskoetter, and Chase Castrop.

JOURNAL OF THE HOUSE

Second Regular Session, 98th GENERAL ASSEMBLY

TWENTY-SEVENTH DAY, TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 23, 2016

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

Speaker Richardson in the Chair.

Prayer by Msgr. Robert A. Kurwicki, Chaplain.

The Lord give thee wisdom and understanding, that thou mayest keep the law of the Lord, thy God. (I Chronicles 22:12)

O Lord of Love and God of all hopefulness in this sacred hour, we bow at the altar of prayer thanking You for this opportunity to represent our people and praying for Your guidance as we face the hours that lie ahead.

By Your wisdom and the strength of Your spirit may we accept the solemn responsibilities placed upon us. During this election year sometimes filled with the bitter tones, help us to hear Your voice speaking the words of justice, freedom, and peace.

In the mountaintop highs and desert lows of life here, give us the opportunity to promote understanding and openness to hear Your call and keep Your laws and to be at peace.

And the House says, "Amen!"

The Pledge of Allegiance to the flag was recited.

The Speaker appointed the following to act as an Honorary Page for the Day, to serve without compensation: Nora Edwards.

Notwithstanding any other law, prior to July 1, 2007, the state board of education shall establish [a virtual public school] the Missouri Course Access Program to serve school-age students residing in the state. The [virtual public school] Missouri Course Access Program shall offer instruction in a virtual setting using technology, intranet, and/or internet methods of communication. Any student under the age of twenty-one in grades kindergarten through twelve who resides in this state shall be eligible to enroll in the [virtual public school] Missouri Course Access Program regardless of the student's physical location.

2. For purposes of calculation and distribution of state school aid, students enrolled in [a virtual public school] the Missouri Course Access Program shall be included, at the choice of the student's parent or guardian, in the student enrollment of the school district in which the student physically resides. The [virtual public school] Missouri Course Access Program shall report to the district of residence the following information about each student served by the [virtual public school] Missouri Course Access Program: name, address, eligibility for free or reduced-price lunch, limited English proficiency status, special education needs, and the number of courses in which the student is enrolled. The [virtual public school] Missouri Course Access Program shall promptly notify the resident district when a student discontinues enrollment. A "full-time equivalent student" is a student who successfully has completed the instructional equivalent of six credits per regular term. Each virtual course shall count as one class and shall generate that portion of a full-time equivalent that a comparable course offered by the school district would generate. In no case shall more than the full-time equivalency of a regular term of attendance for a single student be used to claim state aid. Full-time equivalent student credit completed shall be reported to the department of elementary and secondary education in the manner prescribed by the department. Nothing in this section shall prohibit students from enrolling in additional courses under a separate agreement that includes terms for paying tuition or course fees.

3. (1) A school district shall allow any K-12 student who resides in such district to enroll in up to two Missouri Course Access Program courses of his or her choice each school year, with any costs associated with such course or courses to be paid by the school district, if:

(a) The student is enrolled full time in and has attended, for at least one semester immediately prior to enrolling in the Missouri Course Access Program, a public school, including any public charter school; and

(b) Prior to enrolling in any Missouri Course Access Program course, a student has received approval from his or her guidance counselor through the procedure described under subdivision (2) of this subsection.

(2) Guidance counselors shall approve or disapprove a student's request to enroll in a Missouri Course Access Program course based on the counselor's assessment of whether participation in the program and enrollment in a particular course are in the student's best interest. The district shall develop a procedure under which a student may appeal the decision of a guidance counselor made under the provisions of this subdivision.

(3) For students enrolled in any Missouri Course Access Program course in which costs associated with such course are to be paid by the school district as described under subdivision (1) of this subsection, the school district shall pay the content provider directly on a monthly basis. If a student discontinues enrollment, the district may stop making monthly payments to the content provider. No school district shall pay, for any one course for a student, more than fourteen percent of the state adequacy target, as defined under section 163.011.

(4) The school district shall monitor student progress and success and course quality and annually provide feedback to the joint committee on education regarding course quality.

(5) A school district shall accept courses taken through the Missouri Course Access Program for credit.

(6) Nothing in this section shall prohibit home school or private school students from enrolling in Missouri Course Access Program courses under an agreement that includes terms for paying tuition or course fees.

JOURNAL OF THE HOUSE

Second Regular Session, 98th GENERAL ASSEMBLY

TWENTY-EIGHTH DAY, WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 2016

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

Speaker Richardson in the Chair.

Prayer by Msgr. Robert A. Kurwicki, Chaplain.

If you continue in My word, you are My disciples, and you will know the truth. (John 8:31, 32)

O Lord who is the truth that makes us free and the love that gives us life, strengthen us by Your spirit that no danger may overwhelm us and no discouragement overcome us. Make us one of that company who find in Your service perfect freedom and who in loyalty to You commit our lives to purposes greater than ourselves in thought and essence.

Help us to make good use of this day, seeking always to know what You would have us to do. Beginning with a vision of Your presence, may we continue to rely upon Your spirit and come to rest knowing You are with us and that we have been with You.

Bless this People's House as we seek peace and unity. Reward our efforts with continuing success and give us wisdom as we talk with each other and people of this State. Give us better solutions for the good of all and with a firmer faith in the goals of all our citizens.

And the House says, "Amen!"

The Pledge of Allegiance to the flag was recited.

The Speaker appointed the following to act as Honorary Pages for the Day, to serve without compensation: Jack Roth, Aaron Knipmeyer, Lauren Taylor, Brooke Taylor, Nathan Remole, Kara Lee Remole, Gracie Remole, Levi Remole, Anna Remole and Lauren Remole.

House Amendment No. 1

AMEND House Bill No. 2225, Page 1, Section A, Line 2, by inserting immediately after said line the following:

"99.805. As used in sections 99.800 to 99.865, unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the following terms shall mean:

(1) "Blighted area", an area which, by reason of the predominance of defective or inadequate street layout, unsanitary or unsafe conditions, deterioration of site improvements, improper subdivision or obsolete platting, or the existence of conditions which endanger life or property by fire and other causes, or any combination of such factors, retards the provision of housing accommodations or constitutes an economic or social liability or a menace to the public health, safety, morals, or welfare in its present condition and use;

(2) "Central business district", the area at or near the historic core of a city, village, or town that is locally known as the "downtown", with eighty percent or more of the land use being dedicated to a combination of business, commercial, financial, transportation, and government purposes, with the majority of the buildings built more than fifty years prior to the redevelopment;

(3) "Collecting officer", the officer of the municipality responsible for receiving and processing payments in lieu of taxes or economic activity taxes from taxpayers or the department of revenue;

[(3)] (4) "Conservation area", any improved area within the boundaries of a redevelopment area located within the territorial limits of a municipality in which fifty percent or more of the structures in the area have an age of thirty-five years or more. Such an area is not yet a blighted area but is detrimental to the public health, safety, morals, or welfare and may become a blighted area because of any one or more of the following factors: dilapidation; obsolescence; deterioration; illegal use of individual structures; presence of structures below minimum code standards; abandonment; excessive vacancies; overcrowding of structures and community facilities; lack of ventilation, light or sanitary facilities; inadequate utilities; excessive land coverage; deleterious land use or layout; depreciation of physical maintenance; and lack of community planning. A conservation area shall meet at least three of the factors provided in this subdivision for projects approved on or after December 23, 1997;

[(4)] (5) "Economic activity taxes", the total additional revenue from taxes which are imposed by a municipality and other taxing districts, and which are generated by economic activities within a redevelopment area over the amount of such taxes generated by economic activities within such redevelopment area in the calendar year prior to the adoption of the ordinance designating such a redevelopment area, while tax increment financing remains in effect, but excluding personal property taxes, taxes imposed on sales or charges for sleeping rooms paid by transient guests of hotels and motels, licenses, fees or special assessments, or sales taxes dedicated by a vote of the people to specific purposes or projects. For redevelopment projects or redevelopment plans approved after December 23, 1997, if a retail establishment relocates within one year from one facility to another facility within the same county and the governing body of the municipality finds that the relocation is a direct beneficiary of tax increment financing, then for purposes of this definition, the economic activity taxes generated by the retail establishment shall equal the total additional revenues from economic activity taxes which are imposed by a municipality or other taxing district over the amount of economic activity taxes generated by the retail establishment in the calendar year prior to its relocation to the redevelopment area;

[(5)] (6) "Economic development area", any area or portion of an area located within the territorial limits of a municipality, which does not meet the requirements of subdivisions (1) and [(3)] (4) of this section, and in which the governing body of the municipality finds that redevelopment will not be solely used for development of commercial businesses which unfairly compete in the local economy and is in the public interest because it will[:

(a)] discourage commerce, industry or manufacturing from moving their operations to another state[; or

(b) Result in increased employment in the municipality; or

(c) Result in preservation or enhancement of the tax base of the municipality];

[(6)] (7) "Gambling establishment", an excursion gambling boat as defined in section 313.800 and any related business facility including any real property improvements which are directly and solely related to such business facility, whose sole purpose is to provide goods or services to an excursion gambling boat and whose majority ownership interest is held by a person licensed to conduct gambling games on an excursion gambling boat or licensed to operate an excursion gambling boat as provided in sections 313.800 to 313.850. This subdivision shall be applicable only to a redevelopment area designated by ordinance adopted after December 23, 1997;

[(7)] (8) "Greenfield area", any vacant, unimproved, or agricultural property that is located wholly outside the incorporated limits of a city, town, or village, or that is substantially surrounded by contiguous properties with agricultural zoning classifications or uses unless said property was annexed into the incorporated limits of a city, town, or village ten years prior to the adoption of the ordinance approving the redevelopment plan for such greenfield area;

(9) "High unemployment", unemployment in the proposed redevelopment area of at least one and one-half times that of the metropolitan statistical area in which the area is located or one and one-half times the unemployment rate of nonmetropolitan counties if the area is not located in a metropolitan statistical area;

99.810. 1. Each redevelopment plan shall set forth in writing a general description of the program to be undertaken to accomplish the objectives and shall include, but need not be limited to, the estimated redevelopment project costs, the anticipated sources of funds to pay the costs, evidence of the commitments to finance the project costs, the anticipated type and term of the sources of funds to pay costs, the anticipated type and terms of the obligations to be issued, the most recent equalized assessed valuation of the property within the redevelopment area which is to be subjected to payments in lieu of taxes and economic activity taxes pursuant to section 99.845, an estimate as to the equalized assessed valuation after redevelopment, and the general land uses to apply in the redevelopment area. No redevelopment plan shall be adopted by a municipality without findings documented by substantial and competent evidence on the record that a reasonable person would believe that:

(1) The redevelopment area on the whole is a blighted area, a conservation area, or an economic development area, and has not been subject to growth and development through investment by private enterprise and would not reasonably be anticipated to be developed without the adoption of tax increment financing. Such a finding shall include, but not be limited to, a detailed description of the factors that qualify the redevelopment area or project pursuant to this subdivision [and]; an affidavit[,] signed by the developer or developers, [and] submitted with the redevelopment plan, and attesting that the provisions of this subdivision have been met; and a study stating that records were reviewed, inspections were made, comparisons were made, or tasks were undertaken demonstrating that the property was not developed through private enterprise over a period of time. Such a study shall be signed by a responsible party or some party shall otherwise be designated as being responsible for the study's representations. The study shall be of sufficient specificity to allow representatives of the tax increment financing commission, the municipality, or both to conduct investigations deemed necessary in order to confirm its findings;

(2) The redevelopment plan conforms to the comprehensive plan for the development of the municipality as a whole;

(3) The estimated dates, which shall not be more than twenty-three years from the adoption of the ordinance approving a redevelopment project within a redevelopment area, of completion of any redevelopment project and retirement of obligations incurred to finance redevelopment project costs have been stated, provided that no ordinance approving a redevelopment project shall be adopted later than ten years from the adoption of the ordinance approving the redevelopment plan under which such project is authorized and provided that no property for a redevelopment project shall be acquired by eminent domain later than five years from the adoption of the ordinance approving such redevelopment project;

(4) A plan has been developed for relocation assistance for businesses and residences;

(5) A cost-benefit analysis showing the economic impact of the plan on each taxing district which is at least partially within the boundaries of the redevelopment area. The analysis shall show the impact on the economy if the project is not built, and is built pursuant to the redevelopment plan under consideration. The cost-benefit analysis shall include a fiscal impact study on every affected political subdivision, and sufficient information from the developer for the commission established in section 99.820 to evaluate whether the project as proposed is financially feasible;

(6) A finding that the plan does not include the initial development or redevelopment of any gambling establishment, provided however, that this subdivision shall be applicable only to a redevelopment plan adopted for a redevelopment area designated by ordinance after December 23, 1997; and

(7) For redevelopment projects involving more than two hundred fifty thousand dollars in tax increment financing, an economic feasibility analysis including a pro forma financial statement indicating the return on investment expected without any public assistance. The financial statement shall detail any assumptions made. The pro forma statement analysis shall state the amount of assistance required to bring the return into a range deemed attractive to private investors. The amount of assistance shall be equal to the estimated reimbursable project costs.

2. All documentation and findings established under subsection 1 of this section shall be published and made available at no more than the cost of publication as a public document no later than thirty days prior to adoption of the plan by the municipality. Any resident of the municipality, or the county if in an unincorporated area, may file a petition in circuit court to enjoin the adoption of any redevelopment plan for which any requirement of subsection 1 or 3 of this section has not been complied with, and such injunction may extend until all such requirements have been complied with.

3. By the last day of February each year, each commission shall report to the director of economic development the name, address, phone number and primary line of business of any business which relocates to the district. The director of the department of economic development shall compile and report the same to the governor, the speaker of the house and the president pro tempore of the senate on the last day of April each year.

99.845. 1. A municipality, either at the time a redevelopment project is approved or, in the event a municipality has undertaken acts establishing a redevelopment plan and redevelopment project and has designated a redevelopment area after the passage and approval of sections 99.800 to 99.865 but prior to August 13, 1982, which acts are in conformance with the procedures of sections 99.800 to 99.865, may adopt tax increment allocation financing by passing an ordinance providing that after the total equalized assessed valuation of the taxable real property in a redevelopment project exceeds the certified total initial equalized assessed valuation of the taxable real property in the redevelopment project, the ad valorem taxes, and payments in lieu of taxes, if any, arising from the levies upon taxable real property in such redevelopment project by taxing districts and tax rates determined in the manner provided in subsection 2 of section 99.855 each year after the effective date of the ordinance until redevelopment costs have been paid shall be divided as follows:

(1) That portion of taxes, penalties and interest levied upon each taxable lot, block, tract, or parcel of real property which is attributable to the initial equalized assessed value of each such taxable lot, block, tract, or parcel of real property in the area selected for the redevelopment project shall be allocated to and, when collected, shall be paid by the county collector to the respective affected taxing districts in the manner required by law in the absence of the adoption of tax increment allocation financing;

(2) (a) Payments in lieu of taxes attributable to the increase in the current equalized assessed valuation of each taxable lot, block, tract, or parcel of real property in the area selected for the redevelopment project and any applicable penalty and interest over and above the initial equalized assessed value of each such unit of property in the area selected for the redevelopment project shall be allocated to and, when collected, shall be paid to the municipal treasurer who shall deposit such payment in lieu of taxes into a special fund called the "Special Allocation Fund" of the municipality for the purpose of paying redevelopment costs and obligations incurred in the payment thereof. Beginning August 28, 2014, if the voters in a taxing district vote to approve an increase in such taxing district's levy rate for ad valorem tax on real property, any additional revenues generated within an existing redevelopment project area that are directly attributable to the newly voter-approved incremental increase in such taxing district's levy rate shall not be considered payments in lieu of taxes subject to deposit into a special allocation fund without the consent of such taxing district. Revenues will be considered directly attributable to the newly voter-approved incremental increase to the extent that they are generated from the difference between the taxing district's actual levy rate currently imposed and the maximum voter-approved levy rate at the time that the redevelopment project was adopted. Payments in lieu of taxes which are due and owing shall constitute a lien against the real estate of the redevelopment project from which they are derived and shall be collected in the same manner as the real property tax, including the assessment of penalties and interest where applicable. The municipality may, in the ordinance, pledge the funds in the special allocation fund for the payment of such costs and obligations and provide for the collection of payments in lieu of taxes, the lien of which may be foreclosed in the same manner as a special assessment lien as provided in section 88.861. No part of the current equalized assessed valuation of each lot, block, tract, or parcel of property in the area selected for the redevelopment project attributable to any increase above the total initial equalized assessed value of such properties shall be used in calculating the general state school aid formula provided for in section 163.031 until such time as all redevelopment costs have been paid as provided for in this section and section 99.850.

(b) Notwithstanding any provisions of this section to the contrary, for purposes of determining the limitation on indebtedness of local government pursuant to Article VI, Section 26(b) of the Missouri Constitution, the current equalized assessed value of the property in an area selected for redevelopment attributable to the increase above the total initial equalized assessed valuation shall be included in the value of taxable tangible property as shown on the last completed assessment for state or county purposes.

(c) The county assessor shall include the current assessed value of all property within the taxing district in the aggregate valuation of assessed property entered upon the assessor's book and verified pursuant to section 137.245, and such value shall be utilized for the purpose of the debt limitation on local government pursuant to Article VI, Section 26(b) of the Missouri Constitution;

(3) For purposes of this section, "levies upon taxable real property in such redevelopment project by taxing districts" shall not include the blind pension fund tax levied under the authority of Article III, Section 38(b) of the

Missouri Constitution, or the merchants' and manufacturers' inventory replacement tax levied under the authority of subsection 2 of Section 6 of Article X of the Missouri Constitution, except in redevelopment project areas in which tax increment financing has been adopted by ordinance pursuant to a plan approved by vote of the governing body of the municipality taken after August 13, 1982, and before January 1, 1998.

2. In addition to the payments in lieu of taxes described in subdivision (2) of subsection 1 of this section, for redevelopment plans and projects adopted or redevelopment projects approved by ordinance after July 12, 1990, and prior to August 31, 1991, fifty percent of the total additional revenue from taxes, penalties and interest imposed by the municipality, or other taxing districts, which are generated by economic activities within the area of the redevelopment project over the amount of such taxes generated by economic activities within the area of the redevelopment project in the calendar year prior to the adoption of the redevelopment project by ordinance, while tax increment financing remains in effect, but excluding taxes imposed on sales or charges for sleeping rooms paid by transient guests of hotels and motels, taxes levied pursuant to section 70.500, licenses, fees or special assessments other than payments in lieu of taxes and any penalty and interest thereon, or, effective January 1, 1998, taxes levied pursuant to section 94.660, for the purpose of public transportation, shall be allocated to, and paid by the local political subdivision collecting officer to the treasurer or other designated financial officer of the municipality, who shall deposit such funds in a separate segregated account within the special allocation fund. Any provision of an agreement, contract or covenant entered into prior to July 12, 1990, between a municipality and any other political subdivision which provides for an appropriation of other municipal revenues to the special allocation fund shall be and remain enforceable.

3. In addition to the payments in lieu of taxes described in subdivision (2) of subsection 1 of this section, for redevelopment plans and projects adopted or redevelopment projects approved by ordinance after August 31, 1991, fifty percent of the total additional revenue from taxes, penalties and interest which are imposed by the municipality or other taxing districts, and which are generated by economic activities within the area of the redevelopment project over the amount of such taxes generated by economic activities within the area of the redevelopment project in the calendar year prior to the adoption of the redevelopment project by ordinance, while tax increment financing remains in effect, but excluding personal property taxes, taxes imposed on sales or charges for sleeping rooms paid by transient guests of hotels and motels, taxes levied pursuant to section 70.500, taxes levied for the purpose of public transportation pursuant to section 94.660, taxes imposed on sales pursuant to subsection 2 of section 67.1712 for the purpose of operating and maintaining a metropolitan park and recreation district, licenses, fees or special assessments other than payments in lieu of taxes and penalties and interest thereon, any sales tax imposed by a county with a charter form of government and with more than six hundred thousand but fewer than seven hundred thousand inhabitants, for the purpose of sports stadium improvement or levied by such county under section 238.410 for the purpose of the county transit authority operating transportation facilities, or for redevelopment plans and projects adopted or redevelopment projects approved by ordinance after August 28, 2013, taxes imposed on sales under and pursuant to section 67.700 or 650.399 for the purpose of emergency communication systems, shall be allocated to, and paid by the local political subdivision collecting officer to the treasurer or other designated financial officer of the municipality, who shall deposit such funds in a separate segregated account within the special allocation fund. Beginning August 28, 2014, if the voters in a taxing district vote to approve an increase in such taxing district's sales tax or use tax, other than the renewal of an expiring sales or use tax, any additional revenues generated within an existing redevelopment project area that are directly attributable to the newly voter-approved incremental increase in such taxing district's levy rate shall not be considered economic activity taxes subject to deposit into a special allocation fund without the consent of such taxing district.

4. Beginning January 1, 1998, for redevelopment plans and projects adopted or redevelopment projects approved by ordinance and which have complied with subsections 4 to 12 of this section, in addition to the payments in lieu of taxes and economic activity taxes described in subsections 1, 2 and 3 of this section, up to fifty percent of the new state revenues, as defined in subsection 8 of this section, estimated for the businesses within the project area and identified by the municipality in the application required by subsection 10 of this section, over and above the amount of such taxes reported by businesses within the project area as identified by the municipality in their application prior to the approval of the redevelopment project by ordinance, while tax increment financing remains in effect, may be available for appropriation by the general assembly as provided in subsection 10 of this section to the department of economic development supplemental tax increment financing fund, from the general revenue fund, for distribution to the treasurer or other designated financial officer of the municipality with approved plans or projects.

5. The treasurer or other designated financial officer of the municipality with approved plans or projects shall deposit such funds in a separate segregated account within the special allocation fund established [pursuant to section 99.805] under sections 99.800 to 99.865.

6. No transfer from the general revenue fund to the Missouri supplemental tax increment financing fund shall be made unless an appropriation is made from the general revenue fund for that purpose. No municipality shall commit any state revenues prior to an appropriation being made for that project. For all redevelopment plans or projects adopted or approved after December 23, 1997, appropriations from the new state revenues shall not be distributed from the Missouri supplemental tax increment financing fund into the special allocation fund unless the municipality's redevelopment plan ensures that one hundred percent of payments in lieu of taxes and fifty percent of economic activity taxes generated by the project shall be used for eligible redevelopment project costs while tax increment financing remains in effect. This account shall be separate from the account into which payments in lieu of taxes are deposited, and separate from the account into which economic activity taxes are deposited.

7. In order for the redevelopment plan or project to be eligible to receive the revenue described in subsection 4 of this section, the municipality shall comply with the requirements of subsection 10 of this section prior to the time the project or plan is adopted or approved by ordinance. The director of the department of economic development and the commissioner of the office of administration may waive the requirement that the municipality's application be submitted prior to the redevelopment plan's or project's adoption or the redevelopment plan's or project's approval by ordinance.

8. For purposes of this section, "new state revenues" means:

(1) The incremental increase in the general revenue portion of state sales tax revenues received pursuant to section 144.020, excluding sales taxes that are constitutionally dedicated, taxes deposited to the school district trust fund in accordance with section 144.701, sales and use taxes on motor vehicles, trailers, boats and outboard motors and future sales taxes earmarked by law. In no event shall the incremental increase include any amounts attributable to retail sales unless the municipality or authority has proven to the Missouri development finance board and the department of economic development and such entities have made a finding that the sales tax increment attributable to retail sales is from new sources which did not exist in the state during the baseline year. The incremental increase in the general revenue portion of state sales tax revenues for an existing or relocated facility shall be the amount that current state sales tax revenue exceeds the state sales tax revenue in the base year as stated in the redevelopment plan as provided in subsection 10 of this section; or

(2) The state income tax withheld on behalf of new employees by the employer pursuant to section 143.221 at the business located within the project as identified by the municipality. The state income tax withholding allowed by this section shall be the municipality's estimate of the amount of state income tax withheld by the employer within the redevelopment area for new employees who fill new jobs directly created by the tax increment financing project.

9. Subsection 4 of this section shall apply only to the following:

(a) Suffered from generally declining population or property taxes over the twenty-year period immediately preceding the area's designation as a project area by ordinance; or

(3) Blighted areas consisting solely of the site of a former insurance company national service center containing a minimum of one hundred acres located in any county with a charter form of government and with more than nine hundred fifty thousand inhabitants.

10. The initial appropriation of up to fifty percent of the new state revenues authorized pursuant to subsection 4 of this section shall not be made to or distributed by the department of economic development to a municipality until all of the following conditions have been satisfied:

(1) The director of the department of economic development or his or her designee and the commissioner of the office of administration or his or her designee have approved a tax increment financing application made by the municipality for the appropriation of the new state revenues. The municipality shall include in the application the following items in addition to the items in section 99.810:

(3) The appropriation shall be either a portion of the estimate of the incremental increase in the general revenue portion of state sales tax revenues in the redevelopment area or a portion of the estimate of the state income tax withheld by the employer on behalf of new employees who fill new jobs created in the redevelopment area as indicated in the municipality's application, approved by the director of the department of economic development or his or her designee and the commissioner of the office of administration or his or her designee. At no time shall the annual amount of the new state revenues approved for disbursements from the Missouri supplemental tax increment financing fund exceed thirty-two million dollars; provided, however, that such thirty-two million dollar cap shall not apply to redevelopment plans or projects initially listed by name in the applicable appropriations bill after August 28, 2015, which involve either:

(a) A former automobile manufacturing plant; or

(b) The retention of a federal employer employing over two thousand geospatial intelligence jobs.

11. In addition to the areas authorized in subsection 9 of this section, the funding authorized pursuant to subsection 4 of this section shall also be available in a federally approved levee district, where construction of a levee begins after December 23, 1997, and which is contained within a county of the first classification without a charter form of government with a population between fifty thousand and one hundred thousand inhabitants which contains all or part of a city with a population in excess of four hundred thousand or more inhabitants.

12. There is hereby established within the state treasury a special fund to be known as the "Missouri Supplemental Tax Increment Financing Fund", to be administered by the department of economic development.

The department shall annually distribute from the Missouri supplemental tax increment financing fund the amount of the new state revenues as appropriated as provided in the provisions of subsection 4 of this section if and only if the conditions of subsection 10 of this section are met. The fund shall also consist of any gifts, contributions, grants or bequests received from federal, private or other sources. Moneys in the Missouri supplemental tax increment financing fund shall be disbursed per project pursuant to state appropriations.

13. Redevelopment project costs may include, at the prerogative of the state, the portion of salaries and expenses of the department of economic development and the department of revenue reasonably allocable to each redevelopment project approved for disbursements from the Missouri supplemental tax increment financing fund for the ongoing administrative functions associated with such redevelopment project. Such amounts shall be recovered from new state revenues deposited into the Missouri supplemental tax increment financing fund created under this section.

14. For redevelopment plans or projects approved by ordinance that result in net new jobs from the relocation of a national headquarters from another state to the area of the redevelopment project, the economic activity taxes and new state tax revenues shall not be based on a calculation of the incremental increase in taxes as compared to the base year or prior calendar year for such redevelopment project, rather the incremental increase shall be the amount of total taxes generated from the net new jobs brought in by the national headquarters from another state. In no event shall this subsection be construed to allow a redevelopment project to receive an appropriation in excess of up to fifty percent of the new state revenues.

99.867. 1. Except as provided under subsections 2 and 3 of this section and under section 99.868, sections 99.867 to 99.873 shall apply to any municipality located within the state. Any redevelopment project consisting solely of public infrastructure improvements on public land requiring two hundred fifty thousand dollars or less in tax increment financing, wherein the bonds for such project will be paid off in seven years or less, shall be exempt from the provisions of sections 99.867 to 99.873, provided, no stringing of projects shall be allowed. No exempt project under this section shall be combined with another exempt project pursuant to this section for a period of five years.

3. Any redevelopment project for which eligible project redevelopment costs are to be paid from only the portion of the total economic activity taxes and payments in lieu of taxes imposed by the municipality and for which no real or potential revenues from other taxing jurisdictions are involved is exempt from the provisions of sections 99.867 to 99.873.
